669 VETERANS CASH IN BONDS FOR $142,121

Marion Banks Rushed as Terminal Leave Pay Is Collected.

Bank and federal loan company tellers were kept busy yesterday cashing terminal leave bonds for Marion veterans.

Although it seemed that the three banks were filled during most of the bank hours yesterday, a check today disclosed that only a little more than one-tenth of the total number of veterans turned in their bonds.

Bonds totaling $142,121 were turned in by 669 veterans.

Officials reported that the lines to tellers' windows were constant. Only a comparative few veterans failed to have their discharge papers or proper identification.

Where Money Goes

The majority of the G.I.'s mentioned paying on a new car or furniture, others were planning to use the money for medical or other debts and still others turned a portion of the cash on property payments.

One of the banks reported that very few comments were heard. The official contrasted this attitude with the one prevalent when residents cash war bonds. He stated that usually the bond owner apparently feels he should explain the reason for turning in the bond. Yesterday, however, the veterans merely presented their bond and identification and said very little.

Another bank worker said that you could tell by the happy grins on some of the faces that the men were going to have a good time with a portion of the money anyway.

Some Pay on Homes

The two federal loan companies cashed only a small percentage of the total number and then mostly for their own customers. Here again the majority of the veterans used part of the money to make payments on their properties and spoke of new furniture, a car, remodeling or "catching up on debts."

A goodly portion of the servicemen merely transferred most of the money received into checking or savings accounts. Bank and loan officials as a whole agreed that the ex-servicemen were planning to put the money to good use. As one bank official put it "maybe they will take a little for a fling, but why shouldn't they, they earned it when they couldn't have one."

All of the business concerns today stated that a few were still coming in, but business was almost normal today.

46 Americans Leave To Become Australians

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3—Forty-six Americans boarded the ship Marine Phoenix yesterday—to become Australians.

Australia, calling for settlers, is putting up $140 of each fare.

There were eight bachelors—like Raymond Anton Pointner, 24, Washington, D. C., aircraft mechanic, who doesn't know a soul in Australia but plans to "get married, raise a family, and work peacefully ever after."

Reminded that he didn't know anyone to marry, Pointner laughed. "I don't—but I'll find me a red-head and get going."

There were 13 married couples in the band of settlers, and 12 children.

MORROW CO. BACKS PLAN FOR HOSPITAL

Mass Meeting Decides To Ask for Bond Issue Vote.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Sept. 3 — Morrow county voters may decide at the November election on the issue of a county hospital as a result of action taken Tuesday night at a mass meeting held in Levering Hall here.

A countywide group of residents numbering 150 almost unanimously voted to request Morrow county commissioners to place the hospital issue on the November ballot. Commissioners have until Sept. 28 to act.

H. R. Fate of Mt. Gilead, one of the county commissioners present at the meeting was of the opinion the county board "would back the idea 100 per cent."

The decision to seek early action on the county hospital was unanimous and followed a report given by F. W. Dalrymple, secretary of the county hospital planning committee, on a survey completed in Morrow county under provisions of the Hill-Burton act.

Location of the proposed hospital has not been determined nor have detailed estimates of the cost been made. Dr. Frank Sweeney, president of the Morrow county medical association, estimated however that the county had need for a 50 bed hospital which on a one floor plan could be erected anywhere from $5,000 to $12,000 per bed.

Max Craven, vice chairman of the county hospital planning committee, presided at the open meeting and discussion.

CANADIAN WRECK TOLL SET AT 30

By The Associated Press

DUGALD, Man., Sept. 3 — The official death toll in the flaming Labor Day train crash here stood at 30 today but weary work crews continued to claw through the charred wreckage, certain they would find evidences that more passengers had perished.

Police officers and undertakers estimated the final death toll would stand at 35 or above, but said it was possible that some victims were so badly burned that no trace of them ever would be found. Thirteen of the 15 seriously injured persons were reported still in hospitals.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced in Winnipeg that Donald F. Ledlie, 55, of Dugald, Canadian national railways train dispatcher, was being held on a coroner's warrant as a material witness. They declined to elaborate.

OHIO PLANE MISSING SINCE MONDAY NIGHT

Wide Area, Starting at Marion, Named in Search.

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Sept. 3—The civil aeronautics administration, private aircraft and the state patrol today sought a private plane missing with four persons since Monday night.

The Stinson 150, piloted by William Stroop, 22, of Dayton, took off from the Cleveland municipal airport for Dayton, but CAA reports said, the plane radioed it was changing courses eastward to avoid a storm area and has been unreported since.

CAA officials said the plane was due at Dayton at 10:30 p. m. Monday.

Passengers were Mrs. Raymond C. Stotts, wife of the operator of the South Dayton airport, Mariel Talbot, 20, Dayton Junior league worker and daughter of Willard Talbot, and Woody Gorman, 21, University of Arizona student, of Phoenix, Ariz., who had been visiting his father, E. J. (Barney) Gorman, prominent Dayton real estate dealer.

Stotts told CAA authorities he had expected the plane to leave Cleveland shortly after 6:30 p. m. Monday. The group, he said, attended the National Air Races at Cleveland.

An Ohio State university student, Stroop held a commercial pilot's license with an instructor's rating.

Stotts expressed belief that the plane might be found in an area east and south of Marion, O., extending possibly as far as New Castle, Pa.

Rio de Janeiro Treaty Signed

19 American Nations Pledge Mutual Action Against Aggressor.

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 3—The treaty of Rio De Janeiro, an un-precedented pact pledging nations of the Western Hemisphere to act together against any aggression in the hemisphere's security zone, was signed yesterday by 103 delegates of 19 nations.

The treaty, subject to ratification by the congresses of the signing republics, was drafted in 18 days by delegates attending a hemisphere defense conference at the resort of Quitandinha in the mountains 45 miles north of here.

President Truman addressed the delegates at their final session yesterday morning, and congratulated them on achieving the treaty, which he called a plain warning to any "possible aggressor" and an "example of good neighborliness and international amity."

Those who signed for the United States were Secretary of State George C. Marshall; Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich); Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex); Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations; Rep. Sol Bloom (D-NY) and William D. Pawley, U. S. ambassador to Brazil.

The treaty, based on decisions embodied in the act of Chapultepec of March, 1945, provides:

That an armed attack against any of the signing nations is considered an attack against all of them;

That collective military defense measures will be taken in the event of any armed attack within the hemisphere's security zone, reaching from pole to pole and from Hawaii to the Falklands;

That joint consultations will be held for defense of an American nation attacked outside the security zone;

That the nations jointly will issue a cease fire order in the event of hostilities between two American states.

Two American republics did not sign. Nicaragua was not invited because of dissatisfaction with her current governmental regime and Ecuador's government was overthrown in the midst of the conference. The treaty provides that other nations—including Canada—may adhere to the pact's provisions if they desire to sign at some later date.

Truman Polishes Speech To Be Delivered Friday

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 3—President Truman, enacting his new familiar role as a good will ambassador to a neighboring republic, worked today on the special message he is to deliver Friday to a joint session of the Brazilian congress.

Press Secretary Charles Ross said the President had no plans to leave the U. S. embassy today, apparently intending to spend the entire day in seclusion preparing his second speech on Brazilian soil. In his first, yesterday at the inter-American hemisphere defense conference's final session at Quitandinha, he pledged that the United States would remain militarily strong to bulwark a policy based on a desire for lasting peace.

Tomorrow, the President intends to go sightseeing, and after his speech Friday he will do more of the same. Sunday he will review a gigantic parade commemorating the 125th anniversary of Brazilian independence and when that is over he will board the Battleship Missouri for the return to Washington.

Separate Beer, Wine Liquor Office Set Up

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, Sept. 3—A separate division to supervise manufacture, importation and wholesale distribution of beer and wine was set up today by the state liquor department.

Liquor Director Dale Dunifon announced that Phillip H. Gifford, of Urbana, will head the new division. He will take over his duties Sept. 22, when the division will be removed from supervision of ecting Enforcement Chief Floyd C. Moon.

Gifford has been county auditor of Champaign county for five and a half years. Prior to that, he served as deputy auditor for eight years.

Dunifon stated that the change will not affect enforcement activities regarding retail permit holders. He said it was designed for better control of wineries, brewers, wine bottlers and wholesale distributors.

Gandhi Enters 3rd Day Of Fast Already Weak

By The Associated Press

CALCUTTA, India, Sept. 3—Mohandas K. Gandhi, now entering the third day of a fast he says will continue until "sanity returns to Calcutta," appeared "cheerful though weak" today, his doctor, D. K. Mehta reported.

Telegrams and letters are said to be pouring in inquiring about Gandhi's health and appealing to him to give up his fast, said his secretary, Nirmal Bose.

Gandhi embarked on the fast Monday night as a protest against new wages of communal rioting which killed more thn 50 persons and injured hundreds of others in Calcutta during the day.

GALION DELAYS POWER ACTION

Council Holds Up Final Action on Move for "Outside" Hookup.

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept. 3 — Moving slowly in its solution of Galion's critical power shortage, city council at its meeting Tuesday night voted down a motion to suspend the rules and give the "outside" power ordinance its second and third readings. After the ordinance was read by Clerk Ben Romine, the motion to suspend the rules was made by Fred Sautter, chairman of the electric light committee of council. In a vote, Sautter's was "yes" while the five other councilmen present voted "no." Asked why he voted "no," one of the councilmen said that it was his wish to move slowly and study the ordinance.

The ordinance read would allow the city to enter into a five-year contract with an outside utility for electrical energy to suplement the supply generated by the Galion Municipal Light and Power company for resale to its own consumers. It would authorize the director of public service to advertise for bids, with the provision that any or all bids could be rejected. The "contractor" (utility) would furnish electric power to a maximum of 3,000 KVA, the city to pay for not less than 1,500 KVA. In case the city didn't keep its contract, defaulted

CIO SEEN AVOIDING USE OF LABOR BOARD

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—Strong prospects arose today that CIO unions would bypass the national labor relations board for the time being without announcing a clear-cut decision on the issue of non-Communist affidavits.

The affidavits are required by the Taft-Hartley act as a condition to using any facilities of the NLRB.

The CIO's nine vice presidents, President Philip Murray and Secretary-Treasurer James B. Gary will meet in Pittsburgh tomorrow to consider the question. They are the key figures in the controversy stirred by a ruling of NLRB General Counsel Robert N. Denman that no CIO union can come before the board unless all the top CIO officers sign the affidavit.

The loudest public objections to signing the affidavit are being heard, meanwhile, from such Communist critics in the labor movement as John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers. The UMW Journal has raised a doubt that Lewis himself would sign such a statement, as a matter of principle. If he does not, all 105 AFL unions would be deprived of recourse to the NLRB under Denham's ruling. Lewis is 13th vice president of the AFL.

The AFL vice presidents, together with President William Green and Secretary-Treasurer George Meany, will meet in Chicago next week to determine their policy. They make up the AFL's powerful executive council.

The CIO officers lack the constitutional authority which the AFL council has.

For that reason, the CIO group may delay announcing any policy until the full 51-member executive board meets in Boston prior to the Oct. 13 convention.

"WOULD HELP WORLD TRADE"

Admits Yanks Won't Like Proposal but Calls It Stability Measure.

By The Associated Press

SOUTHPORT, England, Sept. 3—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin called upon the United States today to redistribute "the Fort Knox gold" to eliminate constant chaos in world trade payments.

"I am quite sure that is one of the readiest ways to assist in increasing the purchasing power of the devastated areas of the world," he declared in a speech to the powerful British Trade Union Congress.

Bevin did not explain whether he was speaking literally or symbolically. Nor did he indicate whether he believed the idea could be integrated with the Marshall proposal for Europe's economic rehabilitation.

(The United States now owns $21,756,287,000 worth of gold, about three fifths of the known world holdings of gold for monetary purposes. Approximately $12,500,000,000 is kept at Fort Knox, Army stronghold in Kentucky. These figures do not include commercial gold such as that used in jewelry.)

Bevin asked for a pledge from the union workers to fight a battle of production against starvation as the government's method of combatting Britain's economic crisis.

He announced a personal decision to seek a customs union for the British empire and commonwealth. He said the cabinet had not reached a decision.

"Must Hang Together"

"I do not think we can avoid any longer common defence and the acceptance of certain common economic principles if we are to avoid these constant recurring crises."

"We have got to settle this balance-of-payments business in the world or it will be constant chaos," Bevin said.

"There are ways of settling it. I know these Americans will be upset, but I have got to upset somebody. My own conviction is that she handicapped herself and caused high taxation in her own country by failure to redistribute the Fort Knox gold.

"If you find another gold mine in the world it would assist you—it would be a great advantage—but there is gold which had already been mined and it is doing nothing.

"I am quite sure that is one of the readiest ways to assist in increasing the purchasing power of the devastated areas of the world."

Get Tough Policy Looms

On the domestic front, Bevin served notice to the nation's 20,000,000 workers that the labor government would use a "get tough" policy to spur production.

Britain's dollar crisis, he said, will continue for another two years, during which "we must get production."

"We can't play down to your foibles, to your petty restrictions," he warned. "We must ask the executive (of the TUC) to remove them all."

"I want to go through June of next year with a tremendous increase of coal, of steel and everything."

We welcomed the Russian ratification of satellite peace treaties.

He declared again that the door was open to Russia to join the Anglo-American economic fusion in Germany. He said the security council of the United Nations had become a propaganda show.

The foreign secretary warned British workers last night that to avoid dictatorship they must com-

"Cock-Eyed," Says Treasury Official Of Bevin's "Dream"

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 — A high treasury official today dismissed as "cock-eyed" the proposal by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin that the United States redistribute its gold hoard in the Fort Knox, Ky., vaults.

The official said "that's a cock-eyed idea if I ever heard one."

"If they want some gold they can get in the same way as we did—by paying $35 an ounce for it," the official said.

"We'll be glad to sell them all they want. The 'for sale' sign is still on top of our gold pile and any time they want to make a deal all they have to do is say the word and lay the cash on the line."

Under the law, the United States must purchase all gold offered to it at the price of $35 an ounce.

Economic Ruin In Europe Seen Growing Fast

Special Session of Congress Hinted as Crisis Approaches Sooner Than Expected.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 — Undersecretary of State Lovett said today that the economic crisis in Europe is developing much faster than expected and some kind of American action to meet it apparently will be necessary before the end of the year.

In making the grimmest presentation of the European picture since Secretary Marshall put forward his self-help recovery plan, Lovett repeatedly refused to say flatly that a special session of congress later this year would be necessary.

But he strongly indicated to a news conference that a special session might be needed.

The view that a special session probably would be necessary had been expressed to reporters earlier by Rep. Hays (D-Ark), just returned from a seven weeks tour of Europe.

Sees Session Possibility

Hays declared:

"If congress meets its full responsibility with respect to stabilizing conditions in Europe," Hays told a news conference, "it will in all probability be necessary for us to be in session before January, * * * assuming that the Marshall plan will take shape by that time and that we will have something definite and substantial to work on."

Lovett told reporters it is now apparent that the deterioration in Europe's condition means that the problem will be upon the United States sooner rather than later.

He said that appropriate steps evidently will have to be taken in a matter of months rather than some time next year. He declared such steps might cover either temporary devices, such as extension of financial assistance by the world bank where possible, or might embrace what he called permanent measures.

Refers To Marshall Plan

By permanent measures he obviously referred to the Marshall plan for extension of American assistance to Europe on a long range self-help basis.

At another point, Lovett said that it is now certainly later than we think and that his personal view is that the United States will have to take a hard look at the situation before the end of 1947.

The state department for some time has been receiving word at an increasing rate from its best observers abroad that America will have to face up to the critical situation sooner than previously expected.

There are two reasons for this, the undersecretary said, explaining them as:

▶The fact that, in his view, the effects of the British financial crisis have been very contagious. Lovett said that he could not comment or enlarge upon this. But it is a known opinion of American officials that Britain's recent successful efforts to relax provisions of its loan agreement here would bring requests for various kinds of help from other European countries.

▶The resources of many European countries have had to be increasingly diverted from productive uses—such as the purchase or manufacture of machinery for new plants — to non-productive uses such as the purchase of food.

Nature Itself Blamed

In relation to this second point, Lovett said the troubles have been brought on partly by what he called acts of God, such as floods and droughts, and partly by human frailties in management.

Many countries, he said, have run through their store of resources simply in order to exist. In addition, he declared that the French have the worst wheap crop since Napoleon's time and the potato crop is bad.

On other aspects of the European crisis, Lovett said:

▶He had heard nothing about British Foreign Minister Bevin's proposal to redistribute the American gold hoard at Fort Knox and could not comment on it.

▶In his opinion, it would be difficult for Britain to maintain membership simultaneously in a British commonwealth customs union and a European economic union. He has heard speculation about a European economic union at some stage of the Marshall plan development, Lovett said.

▶The state and treasury departments had been discussing the possibility, as one phase of the Marshall plan, of creating a dol-

Skin Rash

Certain skin rashes occur not because of any actual disorder of the skin itself but because of allergy or oversensitivity. Perhaps the most common example of this, recognized by all as the penalty certain people must pay for eating foods to which they are allergic.

Best well-known is a rash called erythema nodosum, which is caused by oversensitivity to the poisons formed by some germs. This rash is accompanied by fever and swelling of the joints.

Erythema nodosum seems to occur especially in connection with tuberculosis and diseases caused by streptococcal and meningococcal germs. However, it may also develop from the use of certain drugs. Sulfathiazole, gold, arsenic and bismuth may all produce it in people who are oversensitive to them.

In some cases, the cause for the condition cannot be determined. It was thought at one time that the disorder might possibly be related to rheumatic fever, but more recent studies indicate that the two conditions are rarely, if ever, related.

The disorder is most common in those between the ages of 3 and 35 years. It is also more frequent in women than in men. It also seems to develop more commonly in the spring or autumn than in other seasons and why this is so we do not know.

In the beginning of erythema nodosum, there is usually a feeling of fatigue, slight fever, aching pains, loss of appetite and sometimes sore throat. After a few days, the rash appears on the legs, thighs, and arms. It is made up of red or purplish, tender lumps which are shiny in appearance. Each lump lasts for one or two weeks, and then gradually fades.

The rash, as a general rule, persists altogether for from two to six weeks. The condition may occur after it is apparently completely cleared up.

The swelling of the joints is not severe. Neither the redness nor the swelling is as bad as that which occurs in rheumatic fever and pain is only slight. The knees, wrists, ankles, elbows, fingers, shoulders, toes and hips all may be involved. When the rash clears up, the disturbance in the joints also disappears.

When erythema nodosum develops, a careful study should be made to determine if possible what is producing it. If the cause can be found and eliminated, the disorder can be promptly cured. It may be necessary for the patient to stop taking some drug which is causing the condition.

If the disorder is due to tuberculosis, of course, the tuberculosis must be treated in the usual way.

In cases in which the cause cannot be found, it would appear that the use of penicillin would bring about a permanent cure by eliminating the infection which is responsible.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Jay: What causes the scalp to itch? I shampoo my hair regularly and keep my head clean, still I have this constant irritation.

Answer: Itching of the scalp may come from many causes, such as a mild, low-grade inflammation of the scalp or the use of too strong soap in washing the scalp. A mild soap, such as castile, is best.

Boys Living in Railroad Towns Never Lose Passion for Trains

By ARTHUR EDSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON—They had a long weekend of airplane racing out in Cleveland.

I was not there. And I doubt whether any other former resident of Monett, Mo., was there either. We couldn't have taken it.

For Monett (there there are a hundred other towns in this country like it) is a railroad town. And we who grew up in railroad towns aren't going to spend much time mooning over airplanes.

Oh, we like airplanes all right. But we're so locomotive loco, so caboose crazy, so train entranced that we simply don't have any admiration left to spare.

Back in Monett, the kids improve their reading by studying timetables. They learn geography by watching freight cars go by. They can tell a "1500" from a "4500" engine before they can tell a mockingbird from a jenny wren.

Early Environment Lasts

This early environment lasts forever.

Goodness knows, I've tried to give up trains, as other people try to give up cigarets or booze. But I fail, as they fail, because down deep I really don't want to.

When we're driving along, and I spot a train in the distance, I yelp as if I had discovered a gold mine.

"Look, Kids! A train!" I holler.

The children are smart by now. They know it will start an argument if they say, "So what?" So they say, "Yes, Daddy."

The train comes closer, and when I see a freight car marked 'Frisco," I can't resist saying proudly, "that car has been through Monett. Many a time."

Kids Know Answer

"Yes, Daddy," comes the dutiful, unappreciative chorus.

Poor kids! They aren't growing up in a railroad town.

What is this hold?

There's drama in railroading, of course. There are the men who missed their runs, and the substitutes who died in a wreck that night.

There are stories like the one about the O'Dwyer boys. One was a railroad big shot, in Springfield. The other was an engineer.

A train turned over, and the Springfield O'Dwyer rushed to supervise the job of clearing the wreckage.

"Who's beneath this pile of coal?" asked the Springfield O'Dwyer

"Your brother," was the reply

But this sort of thing is true of almost all forms of transportation. It doesn't explain why, when a locomotive starts to chug, I peer through the smoke and the flying cinders and see a thing of beauty

But I'm tolerant. I hope everyone had fun at the air races.

And if anyone calls, look for me down at the roundhouse

BIGGEST BOMBER SET FOR TEST OF STRAIN

By The United Press

DAYTON, Sept. 3—The B-36-A1, first production model of the world's largest bomber, today underwent stress and strain tests at Wright field to see how much its airframe would take before cracking.

The plane, first of 100 ordered by the Army Air Forces, was flown to Wright field Saturday from Fort Worth, Texas, for the test.

It had less than 10 hours total flying time logged when it rolled to a stop on the Wright field flight line, and it will never fly again Lt. Col. Thomas J. Gerrity, who flew the Giant craft to Dayton a few scant hours before the August deadline, said it was routine procedure to submit a new model to the static test, which removes the plane from future flight.

The original XB-36 is being given flight tests at the Consolidated Vultee factory base and another production model will arrive at Wright field this fall for performance flight tests.

The B-36 is powered by six pusher-type engines placed on the trailing edge of the 230-foot wing. The fuselage is 162 feet long and the vertical fin stands nearly 47 feet from the ground, or four stories high.

Colonel Gerrity, of the procurement division of the Air Materiel Command, said the B-36 "handled beautifully" on it's four-hour, 46-minute flight.

Before the craft took to the air it was stripped to its bare essentials so it would not crack the Wright field runway, but it still weighed 90 tons when it screeched onto the cement strip.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

I hear wires have been sent to Taft and Hartley reading, "Labor day is over you can come out now."

Of course Barnum said, "I don't care what you say about me as long as you mention my name," but Barnum never ran for president.

That's a strange thing, come to think of it. He was a better showman than most who have.

But an analysis of Labor day 1947 speeches shows them far superior to Labor day 1937 speeches when there was no convenient topic.

That was the year Mrs. Perkins announced that the depression was over and Arthur Wharton of the AFL announced that 8,000,000 still were unemployed. All on the same fine day.

And lacking Taft and Hartley, old Bill Green advertised a fellow worker in labor's vineyard as "one of labor's so-called friends" . . . Meaning John L. Lewis.

Sometimes the old speeches are as interesting as the new.

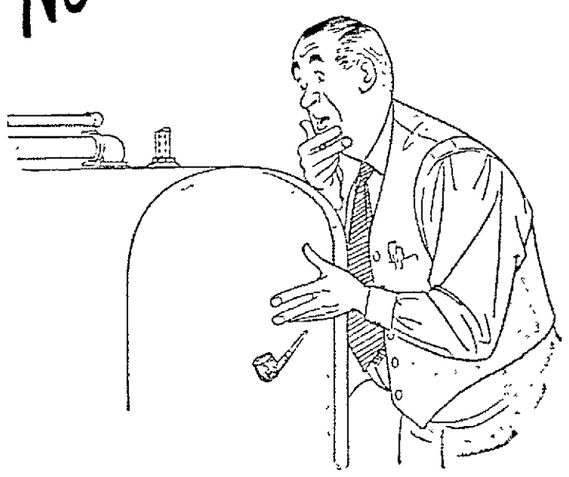
No Fuel Oil?



So you won't be disappointed on fuel oil this winter

Standard Oil offers this friendly advice

Don't install any oil burning equipment until you have positive assurance of your full winter's oil requirements. Get a written contract.

So many people in Ohio are turning to fuel oil for home heating that the demand will outrun the supply next winter. Even though our own refineries and others are making more and more fuel oil . . . even though today's known reserves of crude oil are the greatest in the country's history . . . there IS a pinch in transportation. Pipe lines, barges, tankers and tank cars are transporting petroleum at full capacity. Steel and equipment shortages today are holding back increases in this transportation capacity.

WHAT SOHIO IS DOING

To assure our contracted home heating customers of their required Sohio-Heat for next winter we have—

1. Reluctantly ceased to take on new home oil heating commitments.
2. Offered contracts to all previous regular customers for next winter's requirements.
3. Arranged during this non-heating period to fill every customer's home storage tank to the brim.
4. Offered low cost arrangements for increasing customers' home storage.
5. Made every effort to keep oil burning equipment dealers fully informed of the fuel oil situation.
6. Built large new Sohio fuel oil storage.

Pick Champs In Dog Trials

Columbus and Illinois Entries Take National Tree and Line Titles.

Special to The Star

MT. VICTORY, Sept. 3—Singer Boy, a red and black coon dog owned by Stewart Planck, of Columbus won the national coon dog tree title yesterday at the annual Leafy Oak Coon Dog Trials, east of here.

The line title was won by Danger, the coon dog owned by Carl McCoy of Belleville, Ill., which in taking second in the tree division won a total of $700 for his owner. Singer Boy won $500. Second line dog was Stepping Jack, owned by Glenn Harrington of Columbus, Ind. The management added an extra $400 to the final prize money which brought the total purse in the national meet to $5,400.

Danger, who walked the last ten miles to the meet for lack of other transportation was first in the field of 11 to cross the line and the second dog to bay treed. Had he given voice a moment sooner McCoy might have owned a double champion. However Singer Boy who trailed the Illinois dog by seconds sounded off straightaway after approaching the huge pin oak on an upper limb of which was tethered the coon.

Ohio Soldier Imprisoned In Post Exchange Theft

By The United Press

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 3 — Pvt. Joseph Demeo of Salem, O., was sentenced to six years at hard labor today after a court martial convicted him of thefts from an Army post exchange.

Demeo was convicted of stealing 214 pairs of women's nylon hose, concealing himself in the post exchange after closing hours and removing one pair of men's civilian shoes, two dresses and two bottles of perfume, and of stealing $50 in cash, a watch and a cigaret lighter from general headquarters of U. S. civilian employes.

CHASES FIRE ENGINE, DIES

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3—Six-year-old John Fleishman heard fire engines approaching last night, rushed into the street and was killed by a passing taxicab. Police termed the death "an unavoidable accident." The fire engines were answering a false alarm.

In Stuart days, it was the custom to put a piece of toast in the wine cup for flavor: hence the English expression, "drink a toast."

Money in 11 Colors Will Debut If Congresswoman Gets Way

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—There is a logical lady in Andover, Mass. Mrs. Edith N. Rogers, who's been having money trouble. The durn stuff's too green.

In a dim light Mrs. R. can't tell a sawbuck from a fin, or a C-note from a two-spot because they're printed, everyone, the same cabbage-bug color. And always have been, since Alexander Hamilton (a mere man with no imagination) picked the shade.

Mrs. Rogers, with the clear thinking peculiar to her sex, wrote the man in charge of the long green, Secretary of Treasury John Snyder, that the time had come to redecorate the currency. Her idea was to leave dollar bills green; make the twos shocking pink maybe, so there'd be no mistake; print five-dollar Williams in canary yellow; produce tens in a pretty shade of tan (all right, moonglow), and so on through the 11 different denominations of money.

Royal Purple for $10,000

The biggest bill of all, the $10,000 number, would be done of course in royal purple with perhaps a golden gardroon border.

Honest John, the money maker, was getting ready to sail for a London conference of fiscal bigwigs, when he received Mrs. Rogers' letter. He was busy, as it happened, stirring up an extra pot of green ink to last until he got back.

All he said to Mrs. Rogers' suggestion was "um." That's a man for you. Let things slide. Leave 'em go. And never give a lady a straight answer if he can help it. So the secretary sailed from New York today (his wallet was stuffed with green money of his own manufacture) without ever giving Mrs. Rogers any satisfaction.

That didn't bother her. As a woman she's used to men sloughing off their responsibilities. And that brings us to the climax of this dispatch; Mrs. Rogers is one lady Snyder can't ignore. She's a congresswoman from Massachusetts and a Republican congresswoman at that.

Come January she's going to introduce a bill, calling for John to make money in 11 colors. She predicts the law will pass and she doesn't want him to claim he can't deliver because of technical difficulties.

Just Like Stamps

He makes red postage stamps, doesn't he? and brown and green and blue and lavender? All right then, said Mrs. Rogers. He can do the same for cash.

Snyder's underlings, I regret to report are men, too. They won't talk for the record. I think they are scared. One of them admitted privately that he was all for Mrs. Rogers. He was tired of being green, himself.

He runs a $10-bill press, polishes the plates between each impression with his bare hands, and every morning now for 20 years his nose has begun to itch about the time both his paws have become a soupy, drippy green. He has tried psychology on himself, self-hypnotism, everything. But he never has been able to resist the itch for more than one hour and a half. Then he scratches. His nose becomes green and he's sunk. By the end of the day he's green all over, ears included.

The view of himself in the mirror is monotonous. He'd welcome being scarlet or a change, or baby blue, or even streetcar yellow. Take it away, Mrs. Rogers. Your public is behind you on all 11 flavors.

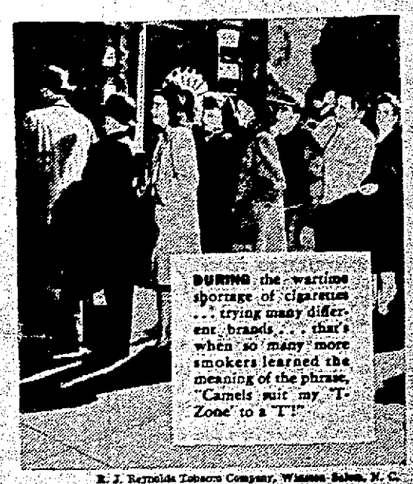
ore people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!
Yes, like Champion Don Whitfield, smoker after smoker who tried many different brands during the wartime cigarette shortage now smokes Camels.
YOUR "T-ZONE" WILL TELL YOU... T for Taste... T for Throat... That's your proving ground for any cigarette. See if Camels don't suit your "T-Zone" to a "T."

YOU KNOW what it was like during the wartime cigarette shortage: people took any brand they could get, a different brand every day sometimes.
That's when smokers discovered that Camel's rich taste and cool mildness added up to a smoking pleasure they didn't find in any other cigarette.
As a result of that experience, more people are smoking Camels than ever before!
Try Camels. See how they suit your taste ... your throat. Let your own experience tell you why, with smoker after smoker who has tried and compared, Camels are the "Choice of Experience."


DURING the wartime shortage of cigarettes ... trying many different brands ... that's when so many more smokers learned the meaning of the phrase, "Camels suit my 'T-Zone' to a 'T'!"

SAVANT LAUGHS AT ROBOT WAR

Physicist Says B-29's, Automatic Ships Easier Than Guided Missiles.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—Implying that "push-button" warfare is still a long way off, a noted scientist declared yesterday that it would be easier to make a B-29 or battleship fully automatic than to create successful long-range guided missiles.

Lawrence R. Hafstad, director of the applied physics laboratory of Johns Hopkins university, said in an analysis of the guided missile program that development will be slow and costly. He said guided missiles are still in the basic research—not the design—stage.

"People expect a guided missile to cross an ocean, locate a target, then bombard and demolish it, with only a mechanical brain," he said. "That is expecting of a guided missile essentially the same performance we now get from a fully manned B-29 or a battleship."

Make Ships Automatic

"It would be much easier, within the space and weight-carrying limitations of a big airplane or ship, to make an airplane or ship automatic."

Hafstad said the need for progress in the guided missile field is "imperative," but at the same time each advance is "expensive and painful."

"In the present international atmosphere it should be obvious that failure to solve the guided missiles problem might prove very expensive indeed," he added.

The scientist pointed out that in the guided missiles field even the sky is not the limit "for we must also consider the possibility of projecting missiles beyond the influence of the earth and its atmosphere into interstellar space."

Astronomical Research Needed

"This drops the problem of astronomical navigation in our laps, the solution of which will require researches as basic or fundamental as any in the most cloistered observatory."

Hafstad said the next war, if it comes will be "shorter, more violent, and much faster breaking than those of the past."

"Only that nation can survive which is adequately prepared for just that kind of war," he declared. "Next time the gadgets must be ready when the shooting starts."

Hafstad emphasized the need for basic research in guided missiles by the fact that at least 50,000 types of missiles can be designed.

"In fact, there is a saying in circulation that every time three engineers get together with four bottles of beer a new guided missile is proposed," he declared.

Welsh in Akron For Annual Gymanfa Ganu

Thousands of persons of Welsh ancestry, including natives from Wales joined in the singing of Welsh songs at the 16th annual Gymanfa Ganu singing festival held in Akron this weekend. Griffith Roberts of Racnor, who attended for his second successive year, reports.

The 6,000 Welsh from this country, Canada and Wales converted Akron armory from a temple of war to a shrine of peace, as they sang such well known Welsh pieces as "Ar Hyd Y Nos"—(All Through the Night), "Pen Park," "Ebenezer," and many others.

According to a report of the convalcade, the audience chorus which faced Prof. William R. Hughes of Scranton, Pa. stole the show from the well trained choir of 250 at his back, with their resounding renditions of the temple hymns of praise to the Lord of all peoples. Singing was in their native tongue.

Singing of the songs of his native land rekindled many memories, Mr Roberts says. He was born in Carmarvonshire, Wales and came to this country about a half century ago.

Next year's Gymanfa Ganu festival will be held in Detroit.

FRANCE SINKS INTO LETHARGY

With Crisis More Severe Than Britain's, Nation Gripped by Indifference.

France is as near bankruptcy as Great Britain yet the visitor today gets the impression that the nation is sitting back, waiting to see what will happen.

Lee Van Atta, former war correspondent of International News Service now making an around the world tour, writes of France today as he finds it.

By LEE VAN ATTA
(INS Correspondent)

PARIS, Sept. 3—There is a fatigue of indifference and of lethargy in Paris today. It is a fatigue so general one becomes convinced it is nationwide and not citywide.

It runs the gamut from the individual doing absolutely nothing productive to the individual engaging in black marketeering on a colossal scale. The lights, the music, the gay boulevards: all are there, but something is gone.

It is as if France, conversant with the promising ramifications of the Marshall plan, had collectively relaxed and said, in effect: "Let's just rest and see what happens."

Envy of Europe

What makes the situation so paradoxical is that France is like a garden of Eden, and Paris the forbidden fruit, in a Europe torn between communism and democracy, between economic survival and economic collapse.

There is none of the driving acuteness so evident in Britain, faced with a problem potentially not as severe as that which is before France.

France is just as near bankruptcy as Britain. Yet in Paris, heart of nation and of empire, there is almost a physical collapse at the moment.

There is talk of the 30-hour week again—when France's economy could stand a 60-hour week by every man and woman capable of working.

In Paris, black markets thrive in every commodity — mostly American dollars. The legal price is 120 francs to the dollar.

But take one from your wallet and the bidding will start at 230 and end up in the 250 franc area for every dollar you are willing to sell.

Commodities Are Costly

By U. S. standards, a good dinner can cost $8 to $15; hotel rooms are standardized in the $6 to $20 brackets. Everything else is expensive, too. Clothes, perfumes, commodities, even green groceries in the markets.

In Marseilles, traditional fishing center of France, fish is all but unprocurable.

Brand-new, ultra-fast nine-meter sloops grace the waters off Marseilles, built in French shipyards. No replacements yet for the fishing fleet.

Swank new French convertibles, not in great quantity but at least in quality, dash about the streets. France's crying need is for bulk transportation. Yet there are very few trucks; they just aren't being built.

Here and there you hear talk of plans for a powerful new defense force while France works out the somewhat overpowering problem of homefront recovery.

The greatest question mark here is Gen. Charles De Gaulle. Many Frenchmen claim that De Gaulle is no politician; that he is too forthright, too honest, too abrupt, too independent to ever sell himself to the people.

There is widespread thought that De Gaulle might yet make his long-anticipated comeback; that he might split wide the 28 parties and emerge victor in a coalition government on his own terms.

WHO WANTS STRENGTH?
By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—A bottle of "rattlesnake whisky" was seized in a Chinatown raid by the federal bureau of narcotics, which offers this recipe for the concoction: place a live rattlesnake in a large jar; add rice wine, dried toads, soy beans, sliced deer antlers and a handful of dried sea horses. Age six months. The product is supposed to give strength.

Wilberforce Presidency Court Decision Awaited

By The Associated Press

XENIA, O., Sept. 3 — The African Methodist Episcopal church and Dr. Charles E. Wesley today awaited decision of Common Pleas Judge Frank L. Johnson in an injunction action.

The church board of trustees has asked the court to enjoin Dr. Wesley from use of church property or the name Wilberforce university in operating the state-supported portion of the institution.

The church board ousted Dr. Wesley as president of the church side of the institution several months ago, but he was not removed as head of the state portion of the college.

He testified yesterday that he had not attempted to perform presidential duties.

Judge Johnson indicated it would be several days before he would announce his decision.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1947

New World

PRESIDENT TRUMAN hit an all-time high for saying what needed to be said in his address to the inter-American conference.

His job was to take the United States off the spot created by the fears of Latin America. The Latin Americans wanted to be reassured about this nation's intentions.

Mr. Truman reminded them that the United States always has used its military power reluctantly—and then for peace, not aggression. This is a truth attested by the independence of Latin American governments in a sphere of influence dominated by the United States.

He further reminded them that the United States is still acquiring experience and maturity. "There has been steady progress in the development of mutual respect and of understanding among us," he said. "As the United States acquires greater maturity, as its experience becomes deeper and richer, our people gain in appreciation of the distinguished cultural traditions which flourish among our neighbors in the western world. I hope that as your acquaintance with us broadens, you will appreciate our fundamental good will and will understand that we are trying to bear with dignity and decency the responsibility of an economic power unique in human history...The old world is exhausted, its civilization imperiled. Its people are suffering. They are confused and filled with fears for the future. Their hope must lie in this new world of ours...United, we can constitute the greatest single force in the world for the good of humanity."

Painful Adjustment

THE continuing massacres in the dominion of India and Pakistan are terrible even in a world which has become used to war and bloodshed. Principal zone of strife is the partitioned Punjab, with Moslems in the western part and the Hindus in the eastern section warring on the minorities.

Contributing the Punjab strife is the fact that the warlike Sikhs resent seeing many of their sect and their shrines in Moslem territory. These powerful bearded Sikhs are dissentient Hindus who in forsaking Hindu pacifism didn't give up their hatred of Moslems.

In the Punjab, hundreds of thousands are on the move. Hindu banks and stores in the western part are being closed as their operators move east. Moslem farmers in the eastern Punjab are going west to escape massacre.

An artificial border has been set in the Punjab, no other kind being possible. Now there is violence and rioting as the population shifts to conform to that border. Like the adjustments that were necessary for accommodating the bed of Procrustes, it is a painful process.

Two Pests on the Rope

SOME say the scarcity of house flies this summer has been because of heavy rains in June and July. Others say DDT and other highly efficient insecticides are killing off flies at a faster rate than they can reproduce. Whatever the reason, they certainly seem to be scarcer this year and it's a good bet at least some of the scarcity is attributable to insecticides.

Weeds are another nuisance of the way out. A Cornell scientist predicts that by 1950 progressive farmers and gardeners will be raising crops without weeds. A chemical called 2-4-D and an adaptation of the army flame thrower will eliminate them, he says.

Life without weeds and flies may take us two steps nearer the ideal existance, but let us keep our fingers crossed lest another scientist discover that flies are part of nature's mechanism to keep life in equilbrium, or that vegetables without competition from weeds grow mushy and insipid.

Tips Are Big Business

THE commerce department estimates that tips paid to waiters in 1945 totaled $386,000,000. With some precincts still to be heard from, the 1946 figures aren't available but they are likely to be even higher.

The 1945 total set an all-time high for tips. Some tip receivers are big-time capitalists, such as the California head waiter who is in trouble with the internal revenue bureau for not declaring $1,400 a month.

In 1932, money the nation left under saucers and slipped into palms totaled only $64,000,000. It probably is only coincidental that the figure rose above the $200,000,000 mark the same year Johnny Meyer began throwing parties in a big way.

Did You Know

The projected Yangtze River dam in China will irrigate 10,000,000 acres and provide triple the power of Boulder, Grand Coulee and Shasta dams combined.

Helgoland, a small island in the North Sea, was once a base for pirates operating against shipping of the rich Hanseatic League.

Total demand for petroleum products in 1946 is estimated to be only 10 per cent below the record year of 1944 and 22 per cent above 1940.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Believe Unions Soon Will Come Under New Law.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—Sponsors of the Taft-Hartley law around here now believe almost unanimously the labor unions will eventually come in under the new setup, and think it is working fairly well so far. The unions are merely going through a threshing out period now, furiously biting and fighting at the new restrictions, which have not been clarified in detail yet. But actually the law retains for them most of the advantages of the old Wagner act, merely equalizing the rights of employers with them, so general union certification is optimistically anticipated by most congressmen after or during the months of threshing legal rights.

These same sponsors privately thought the first step taken by the new NLRB General Counsel Denham was a bit strong. To start out the new regime, Denham ruled a local or national union must file affidavits that its officers are non-Communists (not revolutionists of any nature) if the union seeks any benefits under the law. The congressional insiders have heard that the national CIO ruling board cannot possibly file affidavits because half a dozen of its executive boardmen are Communists. But Denham no doubt figured that if the unions could not promise their own clearance of Communism, they could not promise anything for sure, and he deliberately drove his first showdown primarily on that basis.

CIO Position Weak

Denham knows quite well CIO hardly dares hold out on the issue of Communism. The technical CIO position on this is weak, regardless of the popular political angle. For example, if a CIO union refuses to file, the AFL can step in and file, and raid the CIO union. AFL could seek certification from the board, as the bargaining agent, and then the question would be an election to decide whether the plant should have AFL or affiliation with neither. CIO would be completely frozen out of the election.

That idea is what may be one thing behind the AFL's office employees international coming in first with affidavits showing themselves free of Communism. The AFL unions are in a much better position to meet this test. At any rate Denham started off blowing harder (rather than easing up) on that issue and ultimately ruled all leftover cases would be dismissed unless the no-Communist affidavits are forthcoming within 20 days.

The anti-Communist phase is one of the two initial steps projected when the new law went into effect Aug. 22. The other requires labor organizations to file with the secretary of labor a detailed financial report. AFL unions have been announcing their finances as a matter of general practice, but CIO lies not. If CIO hangs out on this, AFL again will be in a position to raid.

Showdown Forced

Thus the showdown has been forced first on cleanness from Communism and cleanness of finances. The way in which the unions meet this test may largely determine the future of their own current organization. The AFL has been the severest critic of CIO on these points, both the secrecy of financial reports (including lists of actual dues-paying members) and charging that a number of CIO locals are Communist dominated. Some dissident CIO members joined in these charges.

Otherwise the changes which came into effect Aug. 22 merely divide the prosecuting and judicial functions of NLRB, vesting the prosecuting functions in the general counsel and judicial functions in the five man board.

The inauguration of the law therefore was under more favorable auspices than adverse advertising has indicated. It falls considerably short of promising early repeal. For encouraging registrations, the government is in an excellent position. The outcome of this initial phase should be evident within a few weeks but it might take months to clarify conclusively all the legal details or establish the policies of both unions and management in detail under the new law. In the ordinary course of events, there will probably be continuous legal wrangling from now on.

The new counsel and board (while somewhat under suspicion on their record) appear to promise a fair administration. At least the Republican congressmen seem more or less satisfied so far, although they are very suspicious and cautiously keeping the joint labor investigating committee and Rep. Hartley near at hand to watch every development.

Now You Can Sleep in Peace

A San Francisco theater man has invented a crackle-proof popcorn bag.

That's the best news for movie fans since Sinatra went back to radio.

The talkies are a relatively recent development, but the truth of the matter is that there has never actually been any such thing as "silent" pictures. . . . at any rate not since the first nickelodian manager installed a peanut machine in the lobby.

There are two types of movie fans: Those who go for nourishment and those who go for entertainment. There is also a third group, who go because their wives take them but, this not being a personal column, I will not develop that theory.

At any rate, the inveterate movie-eater prepares to attend a double-feature as Byrd for a polar expedition, with provisions capable of sustaining life indefinitely.

Having succeeded in developing a noiseless cellophane for such cinema supplies, science now should turn all its research facilities over to a search for that other sorely-needed item . . . crunch-proof peanut brittle.

The Clayton Cables

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—Under Secretary of State Will Clayton has been sending to Washington a series of urgent cables from Europe. With an almost desperate conviction, he has been pressing the administration leaders to call a special session of congress in December at the latest. The purpose of this session, Clayton has urged, should be to appropriate an emergency advance to Europe of at least two and a half billion dollars, rather than to consider the Marshall plan as a whole. This emergency advance must be available by January at the latest. Otherwise, Clayton has warned, the whole European situation will literally explode.

Clayton, who is not given to hysteria, has taken the lead in urging this crucial emergency step. But he has also been supported by ambassador to England Lewis Douglas, ambassador to France Jefferson Caffery, and Robert Murphy, highest ranking state department representative in Germany. These men have been conferring regularly together for weeks. The reason why they unite in urging emergency action is quite clear. They have faced up to the facts. And the facts inescapably insist that Europe cannot wait for the Marshall plan. The gap will be too long.

Two such facts tell a good part of the story. First, there is no longer the slightest doubt that Italy will have spent its last dollar before Jan. 1. Second, France is so desperately starved for dollars that the French government has been allowed, with exceedingly doubtful legality, to draw about $25,000,000, a month from the international monetary fund, merely to stave off imminent collapse.

Clear Interpretation

The meaning of these facts is not difficult to grasp. Both Italy and France have been making reasonable progress toward international economic and political stability. Yet unless something is done before March, the earliest date when the Marshall plan can be expected to come into operation, on the present schedule, all this progress will go for nothing.

By the first of the year in the case of Italy, and not long after in France, there will suddenly be no more dollars with which to buy wheat from this country to feed the people, or coal to keep the economy functioning. The economic consequences are entirely predictable; a desperate currency crisis and economic chaos. The political consequences are hardly less certain. In political terms, the Marshall plan will come too late.

What is happening in Italy and France is grim enough. What is happening in England is, in a different sense, just as grim. Prime Minister Clement Attlee's harsh austerity program, even by the most hopeful estimates, has reduced the dollar drain on England by at most one-third. American experts privately estimate that dollars will continue to flow out of the British treasury at the rate of at least 40 million a week, and probably as much as 50 million.

An extremely simple mathematical calculation brings home the real meaning of this dollar drain. March is 24 weeks away. Twenty-four weeks multiplied by 50 million dollars means a loss to the British of more than a billion precious dollars. There is not the faintest doubt that the British cannot afford to take such a loss.

British Withdrawal Possible

One conclusion is thus inescapable. The British leaders, confronted by the endless seeping away of their dollar war chest, will become increasingly desperate to save dollars by whatever means lies to hand. One means is obvious. It is Germany, where the British are paying precious dollars to support half the cost of the merged Anglo-American zones. Thus, it is all too likely that, in a kind of fury of desperation, the British will suddenly announce that they intend to withdraw from Germany bag and baggage. This will confront the United States with the awful choice between ourselves occupying the whole of western Germany or allowing the Soviets to move in.

These then are the facts of our situation—the danger of imminent economic and political collapse in Italy and France, the danger threatens something close to catastrophe. Clayton and his colleagues in Europe have been inescapably confronted with these facts. And they have had the courage to face up to them.

The facts insistently demand an American response. They demand first, the special session which Clayton is urging on the unwilling administration. They demand, second, an understanding now, before the British cabinet acts in hasty desperation, with the British on Germany. They demand, in short, that the United States act now, before disaster, rather than later when disaster has already happened. A blood transfusion is obviously required. A blood transfusion is of little use when the patient is already dead.

Thus the United States must do what it has never done before. It must take the initiative. As the only possible leader, the United States must lead. If the administration and the country are prepared to face the facts, and to act upon them, the stable and peaceful world which the future of the United States requires is still possible. If we are not prepared to face the facts, the future is dark indeed.

THE STOPPER

"Pactomania," World Ailment

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

F. A. VOIGT, in "The Nineteenth Century and After," perhaps the best of British publications, coins a new word, "Pactomania." It is an excellent word to describe the current retreat from international law and the substitution therefor of special agreements covering a vast number of general and special subjects, all related in fact and unrelated by pact. It is total anarchy following a devastating war.

International law did not prevent nations from going to war but it did provide a mechanism for making peace. There were procedures which nations accepted even while at war. Poison gas was not used in this last war because of vestigial respect for international law. The general assumption was that war was an evil, inevitable perhaps but not justifiable by morals. A treaty was accepted as a contract, inviolable for its duration. That does not mean that there were no violators, just as thieves and even murderers exist in spite of all the laws against them.

Unsound Basis

The current plague of pacts is that they are deals among nations based upon nothing more fundamental than the hurried need to get something done. Teheran and Yalta remain astonishing examples of such deals, being little better than private transactions not only to despoil the enemy but to rob weaker and smaller allies. Certainly, the scuttling of the League of Nations at San Francisco and the establishment of the United Nations represents not historic logic but makeshift pactomania. For the structure and process of the league was closer to international law than the unbelievable confusions of the United Nations with its emphasis on unanimity, which is a euphemism for veto.

Voigt makes an extraordinary good point when he says:

". . . Agreements between states are freely contracted, and this freedom of contract is impaired, or even destroyed, if the contracts are subjected to a general coercive authority. Even war ends, or ought to end, in agreement, for agreement is the foundation of peace, and the object of war is peace. It is true that an agreement ending war—that is to say, a treaty of peace—is a forced agreement. But . . . peace, to be a true peace, must be a just peace, engendering a status which will, in course of time, be freely accepted. A just war will end in such a peace, or will create the foundation of such a peace. A just war is one that is waged for a just peace. If the war is not just, the peace will not be just. And if the peace is not just, the war cannot have been just, even if it may have begun a just war. The second World War, as waged by the Allied powers, began as a just war, but in its course it changed its character, and the result is an unjust peace . . . To make unconditional surrender the overriding purpose of a war, is to substitute a wrong for a right . . . When the Allied powers proclaimed unconditional surrender as their war-aim, they struck at the rule of law itself."

At Bottom of it All

That is the essence of most of our current troubles. The war turned out to be a bad war because it produced a bad peace. It produced a bad peace because international law was deserted. And somehow we cannot get away from the badness of the peace; therefore there is no peace at all anywhere. The fact that we are unable to solve any major problems, Germany, Japan, the atomic bomb, the policing of Europe, etc., is due largely to the lack of guiding principles in international law. Each transaction is separate without regard to any general assumptions and when the pacts conflict with wishes and desires and current internal politics, or with each other, nothing comes of the many conferences and meetings but new conferences and more meetings.

It must be noted that geographically Russia accomplished what Hitler tried and failed to accomplish. When Hitler was engaged upon these territorial changes, we said they were wrong and went to war because of them; but when Russia does the same thing, we dare not even discuss the morals of the case because morals have disappeared along with the disappearance of international law.

Daily Bible Thought

Life would be dull if it were not filled with continuous discoveries. Spiritual life is no exception: "It is the glory of God to conceal a thing."—Prov. 25:2.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Letters for Special Delivery

TO THE UNITED NATIONS.

Gentlemen:

What are you boys working on, a citadel of world peace or a superdooper real-estate project combining the best features of Alice-in-Wonderland, the Arabian Nights and an early DeMille movie. I hope you are not falling for the idea that magnificence, modernistic art, ducts, big money, glamour, marble, brass and plenty of express elevators and such things will contribute more to the motif of brotherly love than simplicity, self-control and humility rather than cheesecake with strawberry frosting.

I am all for the UN. It may be our last hope of peace. But a little of the simplicity of the stable at Bethlehem wouldn't hurt.

* * *

The occupant of the new UN home is to be the Prince of Peace, not the Maharajah of Baroda.

* * *

You may not grasp it, but nothing exasperates the public more than reading about the endless debates of UN and then turning the page to find eight more elaborate plans for a waterfront wonder-world that seems to require the seizure and destruction of more and more churches, apartments, shops, delicatessen stores, Y.M.C.A.'s, streets, alleys, avenues and Salvation Centers.

* * *

There are more architects, surveyors and bright-eyed planners working on the UN center and its approaches than ever were contemplated on any one project outside of the straightening of Boston's streets. Almost every edition of a paper reveals new blueprints that in no way throw off any flavor or mood of sincere dedication to a great task somewhat in the pattern of the greatest Peacemaker in the history of mankind. It is getting so I can hardly bear to look at these plans. They do not even suggest brotherly love, democracy, peace, and the more tender sentiments of life.

Somehow, boys, the minute I get a squint at these blueprints I begin to search for the spots where the roller coaster, the elephant house, Dave Chasen's restaurant and the big air-conditioned home where the birds of paradise will be raised.

* * *

Now don't get me wrong. UN is big and important. There are a lot of people in it and it needs room. You boys can't veto each other in a phone booth or powder room. But I wish UN and its approaches could all be handled with less suggestion of a Sonja Henie ice spectacle.

* * *

Brotherly love won't be boosted by artistic underpasses, you can't heal the wounds of a bleeding world by bigger and better plazas, and I never heard of world peace being dependent on multiple viaducts, wider streets and a reshuffling of local real estate.

* * *

Listen, fellows, can't all you builders of a UN home and its approaches just try on something plain and modest—just for size?

Yours curiously,
ELMER TWITCHELL.

Dear Editor: I haven't been in your hair lately and wouldn't be there now, except that I want to serve fair warning.

In a spirit of charity (which you don't deserve) this isn't directed at you so much as it is to people like you that try to tell people like me that other people behave the way they do because their governments misrepresent them. It is the other way around. Governments behave the way they do because they represent the people.

Those who want to think all you need to do is change governments to change people must be kidding. I would have no objections if they weren't threatening to get me into trouble. In other words, Mr. Editor, I would be a sap, wouldn't I, to take their word for it that the Japs all of a sudden are my friendly little brothers, or that the Germans have quit thirsting for my blood, or that the Bulgarians have discovered the pure joy of representative democracy? These are the same people, you see, who tried to sell me on the idea a while back that the Russians were fighting for human liberty.

Consider the Chinese, cursed with a corrupt, cynical, defeatest government that's breaking the bleeding hearts of Washington. Could that be because the Chinese themselves have become so corrupt, cynical and defeatest their government can't possibly be any better than they are? I think that's the answer.

Take the British, monkeying with socialism today, communism tomorrow. They are doing this because they have nothing to divvy up any more but their misery. They are fresh out of everything, including hope, and it doesn't matter whether Attlee's in charge, or your Aunt Minnie. No Briton dreams of making good in a big way any more, because he's too busy cadging enough to eat and wear. British socialism is the result of British despair, not its cause, and if we ever get into the same sorry shape we'll turn to socialism in this country.

Or look at the Germans, who alternately act like wolves on the prowl and sheepbrowsing in the meadow because they instinctively follow the leader. They love to be bossed. Russians like to be bossed too. That's why they've taken to communism, which is only a fancy name for despotism. The czars are gone—long live the dictators.

Americans, for the most part, are descended from mavericks who ran away from dictatorship. That's why we're inclined to be hog-independent, except for those who prefer to have all their thinking done for them. See what I'm driving at? I am warning you not to try to tell me that every thing in Britain would be dandy if Churchill was running the government, or that the Bulgarians would take up representative democracy in a jiffy if the Russians would go away, or that the Germans and the Japanese all of a sudden are interested in the welfare of democracy because that's the way we wish it could be. Heed this warning, Buster, because if you don't you are going to have to eat your newspaper, typographical errors and all.

SOIL DEPLETION BY 1960 SEEN

Quarter of U. S. Crop Land Will Be Ruined by Then, Barring Action Now.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—One-fourth of the nation's entire crop land is threatened with irreparable damage by 1960 if the present rate of erosion continues, soil conservation officials said today.

Another 25 per cent of the land faces permanent injury between 1960 and 1975.

Officials said failure to act will cost the nation $320,000,000,000 in the next 20 years—in actual cash and without regard to the irreplacable loss of a vital natural resource.

Diet May Be Reduced

Conservation officials said continued retirement of broad areas of land from cultivation each year will may force a reduction of the American diet.

Pointing up this possibility, they said census experts estimate that by 1970 the United States will have a population of 170,000,000 compared with the present 140,000,000.

They said so great a population will require more—not less—land than is producing crops today. The officials stressed that "no one will starve." Instead, the national diet would decline in nutritional quality. There would be a shifting to a heavier cereal diet.

According to SCS, erosion now is making its most vicious attack upon the rich middle belt of the country.

Midwest Going Too

The midwest long has been considered a "permanently" rich bread basket. But intensive cultivation of war-important crops in the last few years has exposed millions of acres of precious top soil to wind and rain, officials said.

The 50 per cent of available crop land now suffering from "critical" or "serious" erosion totals 225,000,000 acres. Another 210,000,000 acres is undergoing a "slow" eating-away. The rest of the nation's farmland resources, or only about 75,000,000 acres, does not need conservation help now and may never need it.

Dr. H. H. Bennett, SCS chief, has mapped out a 20-year conservation schedule that would cost $1,400,000,000. He said the program could arrest the erosion that has carried away one-third of the nation's best farming soil since Columbus landed in the western hemisphere.

Finished by 1970

Bennett said the program anticipates comprehensive and immediate treatment of the land, but that it will mean completion of basic conservation by 1970.

'From then on,' Bennett said 'the total remaining job would become primarily one of maintaining the work already on the ground, which would be easier and a great deal cheaper.'

Petition filed—Sarah Ann Miller against Cloyd Miller, grounds neglect, Carhart & Carhart, plaintiff's attorneys.

Rehearing Asked

Rehearing of a claim in which the plaintiff seeks to participate in the state insurance fund is asked in a petition filed in common pleas court by Mary Alice Cleary against the industrial commission of Ohio. The claim is based on the death of the plaintiff's husband, James A. Cleary, an employe of the Ohio department of highways. According to the claim the deceased suffered an injury which brought on a fatal heart attack while he was in the employ of the department. The plaintiff seeks a rehearing and asks that the case be tried by jury. Stump, Wardlaw and Mitchell represent the plaintiff.

Social Affairs

YOUNG women who are leaving for schools and colleges where there are national fraternities and sororities were guests of members of the Marion Pan-Hellenic association yesterday afternoon at Hotel Harding. The tea was held in the presidential suite where the table held a colorful bouquet of garden flowers. Guest favors were corsages.

Guests included Misses Elizabeth Leeper, Nancy Mitchell, Nancy Zimmerman, Mary Matson, Jeanette Stewart, Phyllis Yazel, Lois Dunlap, Patty Harruff, Ann Gifford, Ann Baldwin and Shirley Ebert.

Arrangements for the tea, which is an annual event on the fall calendar of the association, were Mrs. John Roberts, chairman, Mrs. Amy Turner, Mrs. William Lutz, Mrs. David Isely, Mrs. James C. Woods Jr. and Mrs. John Gracely. Mrs. Jay H. Mairs Jr. is president of the association. A meeting of the association will be held Oct. 13.

MRS. DAVID EVANS will be hostess for a meeting of the Town and Country Unit of the Marion Garden club Friday afternoon at her home on West Center street. The club meeting at 1:30 will be preceded by a board meeting at 12:30. Serving as assistant hostesses will be Mrs. J. A. Dodd, Mrs. Lowell Guthery, Mrs. Frank Mann, Mrs. J. Malcolm Strehtz and Mrs. Robert White. All members are being requested to bring any extra seeds or bulbs for exchange among the members for fall planting.

A farewell party honoring Miss Surellen Roest, who will leave soon for college, was given by Mrs. Inez Ullmer Friday night in her home at 321 North Prospect street. Guests included members of the dietary department of City hospital, where the honored guest has been employed three years, and of which Mrs. Ullmer is also an employe. Miss Roest, whose home is at 212 Elm street, has enrolled in classes at Hope college, Holland, Mich., where the school year will open next week. She was presented a gift from the group. Refreshments were served on tables decorated with garden flowers. Mrs. Joel Moran and Mrs. Willis H. Rider assisted in serving. Others present were Mrs. Maye Hoover, supervisor of the hospital dietary department, Mrs. H. G. Roest, mother of the honored guest, Mrs. Gertrude Fetter, Miss Thelma Rush, Mrs. Nell Anderson, Mrs. Verna Petry, Miss Mildred Huffman, Miss Hazel Powers, Mrs. Ellene Dilsaver, Mrs. Janice Sherbzer, Miss Ethyl Hamilton and Mrs. Opal Millar.

Miss Mayme Gorsuch, a bride-elect of this month, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening when Miss Phyllis Gorsuch entertained at her home at 475 East York street. Decorations throughout the rooms were in keeping with the honored guest's chosen color of aqua and yellow. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Clarence Gorsuch, assisted by Mrs. William Gorsuch, Mrs. Minnie Allman and Mrs. Dorcas Gorsuch.

Present with the honored guest were Misses Lavina Stine, Pat Guy, Betty Jones, Gloria Hedge, Joan Montgomery, Rose Mary Kurz, Mary Gorsuch, Erma Gorsuch and Mrs. Dorcas Gorsuch.

Miss Gorsuch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gorsuch of 806 North Main street, will become the bride of Robert Gorsuch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gorsuch of 845 Bellmark street, Sept. 14, in an open church ceremony at the Greenwood Evangelical United Brethren church.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Roberts whose marriage took place recently were honored at a dinner given by the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Barnhart of Prospect Saturday night. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Roberts and Carl Roberts. Later there was a surprise miscellaneous shower for the couple with colors carried out in silver and white. The hostess served refreshments assisted by Mrs. E. E. Luke. Euchre and rook were played. Guests aside from those attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts, Joyce and Jack Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pace, Gloria and Buddy Pace, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Luke, Philip, Donald and Elaine Luke, Mr. and Mrs. Marion McCombs. Mrs. Roberts before her marriage was Miss Myrtle Brewer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Long of near Cardington are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn, to Paul P. Clark. Mr. Clark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Clark of 455 East Fleming street. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Sollar of 116 Glendale avenue, Cardington, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jennie Mae, to Joseph C. Martin of Cardington, and of their niece, Miss Mary Lee Shade, daughter of Mrs. Edith Shade of Dayton, to Forest R. Cook. Mr. Cook is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook of Miamisburg, O., and Mr. Martin's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Martin of Cardington.

The couples have chosen Thursday, Sept. 4, as the date for their wedding, which also marks the wedding anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sollar and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Sollar. The double ceremony will be read at 8:30 o'clock in the evening at the Carl Sollar home in the presence of close friends and relatives.

King's Daughters Annual Meeting To Be Sept. 10

PLANS for the annual meeting of the City Union of the King's Daughters and Sons were made at a meeting of the executive board Tuesday afternoon in the reading room at the Y.M.C.A. The meeting will be held Wednesday evening, Sept. 10 in the recreation room at the First Presbyterian church and at this time officers will be elected, reports of leaders presented and officers of all the circles installed. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Leaders of the various circles comprising the union have arranged an interesting program.

Highlighting the early fall activities of Marion King's Daughters will be the entertaining of delegates and guests to the state convention to be held here Oct. 21, 22 and 23. Sessions will be held at Trinity Baptist church.

Mrs. Byron H. Rice and Mrs. Walter A. Dorsey are co-chairmen for the convention. The principal speaker for the three-day meeting will be Mrs. Frederick Bond of Miami, Fla., international president.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Dr. Maude Bull and Mrs. Edith Kyle of 198 West Church street and Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Hill of 845 East Center street formed a motoring party for a 24-day trip through the west, returning to Marion last week. They covered a distance of 6,500 miles. Principal stops were at Denver, Col., Colorado Springs, visit to Pike's peak, Royal gorge, Yellowstone National park, Salt Lake City, Utah, and the largest copper mine in the world, near there, Bryce canyon, Zion and Grand canyons. Painted desert and Carlsbad caverns in New Mexico. While in Denver they visited Miss Blanche Johnson, a nurse at Porter sanitarium there and a relative of Marion residents, and one of the unexpected things on the trip, Dr. Hill said, was a chance meeting at Grand canyon of a former Marion resident, Marshall Holverstott of Louisville.

Skirts Going Down But Trouser Cuffs Climb

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—Men's ankles are about to have their day in the sun.

With women's legs and ankles losing the battle against the longer skirt, men's fashion designers have decreed the male ankle will come out from under. Men's trousers, they say, will be at least two inches shorter.

Tony Williams, fashion arbiter for the annual list of best dressed men, warned gloomingly that the way things are going, men will be lucky if they have any pants left at all.

"The shorter trouser with cuff will barely touch the top of the shoe," he said.

EXPENSIVE STORK. One of the newest residents of the Philadelphia Zoo is this shoebilled stork, sometimes known as a whalehead. The price tag on this fellow whose habitat is in the upper reaches of the Nile river, reads $1,400. There's a friend for him in his new home who has been living at the zoo since 1928. The older resident is a man-hater because someone gave him cod-liver oil when he first arrived.

Weddings

The marriage of Mrs. Evon Kemmerly and Harold L. Hatcher took place Sunday afternoon in Epworth Methodist church with the pastor, Dr. V. E. Busler reading the ceremony at 12:30 o'clock. The couple repeated the double ring service.

Mrs. Kemmerly chose a brown crepe dress with which she combined green lizard accessories and wore a purple orchid corsage. Attending the couple were Mrs. Kemmerly's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Kemmerly of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Kemmerly was costumed in a mint green dress with which she combined white accessories. Her flowers were a gardenia corsage.

A wedding dinner at Greenwood Inn followed the ceremony after which the couple left on a wedding trip to Tennessee. They will be at home in the Lido apartments after Sept. 10.

Mrs. Hatcher is the daughter of Mrs. Martha Jackson of 576 Cherry street and Mr. Hatcher is the son of Mrs. Mary E. Hatcher of south of Marion.

Epworth Methodist church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Mary Imogene Hudkins and Howard F. Jones, Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A small company of friends attended the ceremony read by Dr. V. E. Busler, pastor. Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence presided at the organ and played the processional from Wagner's "Lohengrin." Other organ numbers included "O Perfect Love," Burleigh and "Liebestraum," Liszt. The couple received their friends at the altar following the ceremony and at this time Miss Lawrence played Wagner's "To the Evening Star."

The parsonage of St. Paul's English Lutheran church was the scene of the wedding Sunday of Mrs. Ruth Irene Rice and Clarence D. Winston, both of Marion, with Dr. Henry Schaeffer, pastor, officiating for the single ring ceremony at 2:30 o'clock. The bride, who lived formerly at 625 East Center street, is a daughter of Mrs. Guy McAdams of Meeker, and Mr. Winston is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Winston of Ostrander. He is an employe of the General Excavator Co. here.

For her wedding, the bride wore a street length dress of teal blue with black accessories. Her corsage was a purpe orchid. The attendants for her were her daughter, Miss Helen Gillen of Cleveland, and her sister, Mrs. Paul Schneck of Marion. Both were attired in grey and wore corsages of red roses. David Winston, brother, and Paul Schneck were attendants for the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a small reception was held at 711 Bennett street where Mr. and Mrs. Winston are now at home. Miss Betty Kenna of Cleveland was an out-of-town guest.

Two seven-branch candelabra and baskets of mixed gladiolus decorated the fireplace at the James Lingo home at 317 South Vine street Friday evening for the marriage of Miss Virginia Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Lingo, and Jack Farrell, son of Mrs. Al Young of Darbycale and James Farrell of Columbus. The double ring ceremony was read at 8:30 o'clock by Dr. V. E. Busler, pastor of Epworth Methodist church.

Given in marriage by Mr. Lingo, the bride wore a shadow taffeta gown styled with a sweetheart neckline, and bouffant skirt with bustle back. Her shoulder length veil of powder blue lace matched the shade of her gown. She carried orchids on a Testament belonging to her mother, and her only jewelry was a ruby lavalier of her mother's. Her handkerchief had belonged to her grandmother.

Mrs. Harold Thomas, sister-in-law of the bride, and her matron of honor, was dressed in powder pink fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, full skirt and bustle back. She carried a colonial bouquet of deep wine glamellias. H. F. VanAlmsick of Columbus served as best man for Mr. Farrell.

Mrs. L. M. Yinger, Marion pianist, played the wedding music which included "Oh Promise Me," "Always," "Indian Love Call," and "I Love You Truly," and the wedding march.

Gifts of the bride to Mrs. Thomas and to Mrs. Yinger were lace handkerchiefs, and Mr. Farrell presented his attendant with a belt.

Mrs. Lingo, mother of the bride, wore navy blue crepe trimmed in pale blue, and she wore a corsage of glamellias, while Mrs. Young, the bridegroom's mother, wore black crepe with a corsage of peach glamellias.

A reception for the families and a few close friends of the couple was held in the dining room of the home. The table was centered with a tiered wedding cake with glamellias and fern decorating the base. On either side were two-branch candlesticks.

For motoring through Ohio and Indiana, the bride wore a pale pink wool suit with pink accessories and an orchid corsage. After Sept. 15, the couple will reside at their newly furnished home in Columbus where both are employes of the Julian Kokenge Shoe Co. Mrs. Farrell was graduated from Harding High school and her husband was graduated from South High school and Buckeye State Business college, both in Columbus.

Guests at the wedding from out of town were, besides Mr. VanAlmsick and Mrs. Young, Mr. and Mrs. James Lingo Jr. of Shelby, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Brenser, all of Columbus.

RENT CONTROL EXTENSION AFTER MARCH 31 SEEN

Good Possibility Unless Housing Shortage Licked, Solon Says.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich) of the house banking committee predicted today that "if the housing shortage is not licked by March 31, rent controls probably will be continued."

However, he told a reporter, "If we keep up the present momentum of building, we may say that the housing shortage is reasonably licked" by that date That is when present control legislation expires

Wolcott said his committee would start a rent study immediately after congress convenes, probably in January, to decide whether to recommend extension of the law.

He said the banking group might receive some guidance from the $100,000 housing investigation being organized by a senate-house committee headed by Rep Gamble (R-NY).

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis), vice chairman of the joint committee, said that if the 14 members can't find an answer to the housing shortage "we should turn in our jobs and go home

"I'm sure we can lick it," McCarthy declared at a news conference

Naval Officer's Trial Enters Second Day

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO Calif., Sept. 3—The Navy court martial of Lt. (JG) Richard Gascoigne, 28, charged with mistreating fellow war prisoners in Japan, entered the second day today, with defense counsel announcing he would call two former prisoners of the Japanese.

Marine Capt. William Daubney, defense counsel, said he would call Marine Colonel James Devereux. Devereux was captured by the Japanese on Wake island and was a prisoner until their surrender. Daubney said he would also call Lt. Cmdr. Edward N. Little, acquitted of similar charges by a court martial in Washington, D. C.

Gascoigne, whose home is in Lorain, O., was associated with Little at the prison camp at Omuta, Kyushu, Japan

Daubney attempted unsuccessfully to convince the court martial board that it had "no jurisdiction" in the case and that it should "disregard the law books and turn to common sense." The board, after deliberating each request for several minutes, overruled Daubney on both of them.

The expression "over," used in announcing the opening of court, was introduced into England by the Normans.

RESERVE OFFICERS HEAR MAJ. BURNHAM

Recruiter Speaks and Shows Pictures at Chapter Meeting.

The monthly dinner-meeting of the Marion county Reserve Officers association was held in the Marion ballroom of Hotel Harding Tuesday night. Capt. Virgil Dye presided in the absence of Col. H. L. Taylor who is on vacation.

Major Lee Burnham, in charge of the Marion recruiting station on South Main street, was guest speaker and discussed enlistments in the new volunteer army. He also showed two motion picture films, "Vacation in Hawaii" and a cartoon short stressing the importance of not divulging military actions or plans.

It was announced that the organized reserve association had been assigned office space in the Woolworth building at 131-133 West Center street. The office will serve as headquarters for the 812th Composite QM group in charge of Col. Taylor, the 7th Ohio Composite battalion (provisional) in charge of Lt. Col. Larry Larson and for the Battery C, 324th Field Artillery, 83rd division in charge of Capt. Robert E. Wolbert.

EUROPE

lar pool for Europe with the main purpose of stabilizing European currencies with dollar support.

►An economic union of all Europe, as recommended by Rep. Hays has not been discussed with the state department but is, in Lovett's opinion, a natural hope for all Europe.

He could not say exactly how Latin American countries might join in the Marshall plan but noted that President Truman in his speech in Brazil yesterday had invited them to do so.

►George F. Kennan, secretary Marshall's top policy planner is due home almost immediately from Paris where he went a week ago on a special mission to try to persuade European recovery planners to do a maximum for themselves and present minimum demands for American assistance.

A reporter told Lovett there was a report that Undersecretary of State Clayton, now in Europe, has sent grim reports back on economic conditions and had recommended that a special appropriation of $2,500,000,000 should be sought at a special session of congress for emergency help.

Lovett declined to comment on this directly but said that the department's best observers had been warning of the urgency of the situation.

Miss America Contest Gets Down to Business

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 3—The 1947 competition for the selection of a "Miss America" got down to some serious ogling today as the 54 contestants moved indoors for the first of a series of eliminations.

An estimated 200,000 persons watched the parade of beauties down a two-mile stretch of boardwalk yesterday, but it was all just fanfare as far as the girls were concerned: the actual competition before the all-observing judges didn't start until today.

WRECK

National Railways special train bringing vacationers home from Lake of the Woods resorts crashed head-on into a transcontinental express discharging passengers here Monday night. The wooden cars of the special immediately burst into flames.

Some passengers said acetylene lamps used to illuminate the cars caused the blaze. One unidentified yardman declared that "when the crash came, all those lamps burst into flame right away."

New Bakery Shop In Operation Here

Under the name of the Marion Pastry shop, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Messenger have opened up operation of a bakery in what was formerly the Wells bakery shop at 127 West Washington Ave. Both Mr. and Mrs. Messenger are formerly of Marion, but for the last 25 years they have lived in Cleveland, where Mr. Messenger was associated with the Fleischman Yeast Co. Mrs. Messenger's father, Miles Horseman, was in the bakery business here at one time.

Japan's Industrial Potential for War Ordered Destroyed

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—The 11-nation Far Eastern commission announced today that it had ordered the destruction of much of Japan's industrial war potential and the designation of many plants for reparations.

The basic policy for "reduction of Japanese war potential" was finally decided Aug. 14 after months of argument. A directive then was sent to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Diplomatic authorities said that in the main the newly decided policy actually serves to give 11-nation sanction to much of the work that MacArthur has in fact already accomplished.

In another respect, however, the directive lays down various principles, somewhat similar to those adopted in Germany, for limiting Japan's total industrial capacity to a fixed level. The commission currently is debating that all plants and machinery useful only for the manufacture of combat equipment should be destroyed.

All other machinery and equipment which the Japanese employed in war supporting and related facilities, the commission ruled, should be made available for reparations insofar as these facilities exceed Japan's "peaceful needs."

For its third main point the commission decided that during the occupation the Allied commander should prohibit the re-establishment of primary war industries and should limit war supporting industries, such as steel, iron, coal and transportation, to productive capacities in line with the determined industrial level for occupied Japan.

BEVIN

but the economic crisis by accepting drastic measures.

Denies Tie with U. S.

Bevin said he was accused of tying Britain to the United States and protested:

"My God, I am here this morning to appeal to you to fight for our independence in the workshop. Who can accuse me of wanting to be subservient to the east or west?"

Bevin said he reluctantly supported the $3,750,000,000 loan from the United States because he believed it would "give us until 1949."

"Our calculations were wrong and, if I may make this confession, we are moving behind all the time because we have not the production or the resources to carry it out," he said.

Speaking of forthcoming talks on a peace treaty for Japan, the foreign secretary said the commonwealth conference held in Canberra was not a ganging-up for the negotiations.

Sees New Era

"We shall now proceed, soon I hope, to a conference to establish a peace treaty for Japan and to inaugurate a new era in that territory, free from fear and strife," he said.

"A great proportion of the United Nations is doing well," Bevin declared. "The security council is the most disappointing part of it all. • • • it has become largely a propaganda show. It is not dealing with the things on the facts. Disagreements are too many. Vetoes are being used absolutely stupidly. All this antagonism is going on. Will it last? Maybe the peace with Japan will show.

"Greater than the peace conference will be the conference in November of the (four-power) council of foreign ministers • • •. I believe it is almost the last chance—almost the last—of seeing whether we can get the economic unity of Germany and whether we can reconstruct Europe."

U. S. Gold Hoard Valued at $21,766,000,000

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—The nation's gold hoard is valued at $21,766,000,000 of which some $12,500,000,000 is stored deep in the vaults of Fort Knox, Ky., treasury records showed today.

The remainder of the gold holdings is scattered about at mints in San Francisco, Denver and Philadelphia, in assay offices and at the 12 federal reserve district banks and branches.

in paying bills, etc., the power could be cut off after the mayor had been notified five days in advance, the contractor withholding service until the default is corrected, but this would not terminate the contract.

Agreement Reported

Preceding the reading of the ordinance, Councilman Sautter reported that the mayor's advisory committee had reached an agreement favoring a "hook-up" with outside power as an emergency measure to meet the needs of industry.

Council also received petitions, presented by Richard Riblet, and signed by 550 citizens, protesting a hook-up with outside power in any form.

The chair of Councilman-at-Large Arthur A. Connor which was vacated by his recent death was not filled at the meeting. A motion to elect Milo G. Fisher to fill the vacancy was not passed because Mr. Fisher stated that he would resign if elected to the position.

The city solved its amusement tax problem by passing an ordinance levying an admission tax against persons, individuals, partnerships, associations and others, providing for the issuance of licenses to operate places of amusement and entertainment, and a penalty for not complying with the ordinance. City Solicitor Robert L. Moulton described the ordinance, explaining that it followed closely those being adopted in other towns and as recommended at a meeting of 10 or 15 city solicitors held recently in Tiffin. The ordinance will become effective Oct. 1. A tax of three per cent of amounts received for admissions to public performances for profit will be collected, the same rate as levied by the state law which is expiring Oct. 1.

Pay Raises Granted

Between 50 and 75 city employes who have not previously received raises in salary and wages, were given pay hikes in an ordinance passed by council. The increase will be five cents an hour for those working on hourly basis, while those on salary will receive about $10 a month. The ordinance does not include policemen and firemen who were given raises recently.

Council also passed an ordinance increasing the fire department personnel from six to seven regular firemen.

D. of U. V. Tent Votes On Three Applications

Three petitions for membership were voted on at a meeting of Harriet Beecher Stowe Tent No. 48, Daughters of Union Veterans, Tuesday afternoon in the Y.M.C.A. Mrs. Gail Montgomery was in charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Therressa Arnold, who was ill.

Further plans were made by the chapter to purchase a drinking fountain and two wheelchairs for the City hospital from a charity fund which is to be used for such purposes.

Inspection and initiation will be held Sept. 30, and the Richwood and Cardington tents have been invited to participate in the ceremony here. Plans were also discussed for the district meeting to be held here Oct. 2.

Boy, 4, Admits He Murdered Sister, 8, With Shotgun Blast

By The Associated Press

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Sept. 3—An eight-year-old girl was slain by a blast from a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun, which police said was fired by her four-year-old brother because, they reported the boy as saying, "she hit me."

State's Attorney Harry Hall of Lake county said there would be no official disciplinary action taken against the boy, Billy Taylor, as the law does not charge a child of four with responsibility for his acts.

The shooting of Billy's sister, Betty, occurred in the Taylors' small apartment yesterday after their mother, Mrs. Viola Taylor, 26, had left Betty in charge of Billy and a baby sister, Patricia, 16 months, while she had gone to a real estate office. The children's father, Albert, was a work as a painter.

Mrs. Taylor told police that when she returned home Betty was staggering about the living room, her hands clasped over her abdomen and crying "Billy shot me."

Mrs. Jettie Dykes, the children's grandmother, told Police Lt. Lawrence Kelly that Billy had told her he had taken the shotgun from behind a davenport where it was kept, obtained a shell from a dresser drawer, inserted the shell in the gun, pointed it at Betty, and pulled the trigger. Kelly quoted Mrs. Dykes as saying her grandson told her he shot his sister "because she hit me."

Policeman Joseph Howlett said Billy told him he was "fooling around with the gun and something happened."

Old Age Pensioners Hear Rev. Hertzler

When the Old Age Pension society of Marion county met Friday afternoon in the Eagles hall, a program including music and a talk by Rev. E. M. Hertzler of Marion was given. The meeting opened with singing of "America," and invocation was by Rev. Hertzler, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison, and salute to the flag by the audience. A number was sung by the choir, and a trio composed of Mrs. Rose Seiter, Christian Ruth and William E. Sergent sang. William Porter gave a report on the sick. A reading was presented by Mrs. Effie Noe and Misses Wilhelmina Miers and Viola Mason sang.

For his talk, Rev. Hertzler used a part of the tenth verse of chapter ten of the book of John concerning "the more abundant life." He quoted four things from the poem by that name written by Henry VanDyke, contributing to a "larger and happier" life, including "to think without confusion clearly; to love his fellowmen sincerely; to act from honest motives purely; to trust in God and heaven securely." These will make a good life, applied to young and old alike, he said, and related incidents from several life stories in line with the poem's principles. Arthur Hershner read from "The Flash," Townsend club publication. A number was sung by the choir, and closing prayer was by Mr. Porter.

BABIES' DEATH SUIT ORDERED AMENDED

By Brush-Moore News Service

CANTON, Sept. 3—Parents of two babies found dying in their cribs at Massillon City hospital last June today had instructions to amend their $100,000 damage suit against the hospital.

Common Pleas Judge A. C. L. Bartnelmen ruled that charges made in the suit must be made more specific. He upheld a motion by hospital attorneys to strike out damage claims for funeral expenses and loss of love and affection.

Judge Bartnelmeh also ordered that the petitions name in detail what employes of the hospital were considered inefficient.

The suits originally alleged that Supt. E. J. Lincke and "certain other employes were retained by the hospital board although it was known they were "not competent."

The judge gave Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brand and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morton until Sept. 15 to file amended suits.

The two babies, Diane Brand and Rose Mary Morton, were found by a nurse shortly after they were fatally injured by blows on the head or by their heads striking the floor or wall.

County Church Group To Meet Thursday

A called meeting of the Marion County Council of Church Women will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the reading room at the Y.M.C.A., Mrs. Leo Keller, chairman, announced. Heads of women's organizations of churches of the city and county are to discuss plans for the week-end convention Sept. 26-28, which will be sponsored by several Marion groups. The women's organization will be responsible for the Friday night service, at which time a missionary speaker from China will be heard. Other missionary speakers will appear at the meeting sessions, with the final session Sunday afternoon featuring the widely known industrialist and religious worker, R. G. LeTourneau.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Magnate Discusses Business With Workers Every 3 Months

By The Associated Press

CONNERSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 3—Every three months Eric O. Johnson, Connersville industrialist, talks over his business with his 2,500 employes.

It takes three days. He makes the same speech 25 times, to as many different groups of workers who listen on company time and who have an opportunity to ask questions afterward.

Johnson says he believes the way to labor-management understanding is by telling the employes what the management is doing and why. "Give the men the answers to their questions before they ask them," he explains.

The rough-talking, 6-foot-2 executive is general manager of the American Central Division-Avco Manufacturing Corp. which has its plant here.

He grew up in the steel business at Cleveland and came up from the worker ranks to become manager some 10 years ago. He has kept his close touch with the workmen and talks their language as he leans his big frame against the speaker's stand and tells what American Avco is doing.

He emphasized in his first talk a few months ago that "I'm the guy with the tough job. I have to keep you happy, the customers happy and make a profit."

Johnson's second series discussed capitalism, whether the American way is the right way of life and what American Avco is doing with the money it takes in.

The talk opened with a discussion of elementary points of capitalism and other economic systems, including communism.

With charts to illustrate, Johnson gives the financial picture of American Avco, answering the question often put by employes "why does a kitchen cost so much?"

The company's principal product is metal kitchen equipment, although it also manufactures refrigerators and jeep bodies.

Cites Figures

He cites the figures—American Avco gets $126.90 for a standard set of a sink and two cabinets, which the retailer sells for $279.75.

He breaks down on a chart, where all the money goes—so much for material, for direct labor, for administration, for income tax, for profit.

A detailed discussion of why the retailer must charge so much above the plant price to make a profit follows, complete with figures and charts.

"A distribution system is costly—but we can't say it costs too much until somebody comes up with a better method of obtaining the same results," he says.

Employe reactions has been varied. Some have asked for even more speeches, others have asked questions. One letter, said in effect, "cut out the baloney and give us the facts." The plant's United Automobile Workers—CIO union has taken no official stand.

As for Johnson, he is convinced it is the way to labor-management understanding and he'll keep on talking until his mind is changed.

Population density in Japan is placed at 2,750 per square mile of arable land.

BIG CITY ATTORNEYS RATED BEST SOLONS

By The United Press

ELYRIA, Sept. 3 — "Big city" attorneys today were rated the ablest senators in the 97th Ohio legislature in a survey of 20 statehouse newspapermen by the magazine, "Here in Ohio."

Sen. Fred G. Remers, Cincinnati Republican, was the only member of Ohio's 36-member senate to receive a vote from each of the newspaper and press association writers, the magazine said.

Eight of the 10 selected were attorneys while nine of the 10 "all-star members" were from "big cities." Three of the senators selected were serving their first term in the senate although two had previously served in the lower house.

The senate's only woman member, Margaret Mahoney, Cleveland Democratic attorney, and its only Negro members, Harry E. Davis, a Republican from Cleveland, were given recognition on the "all-star" senate. Ten of the 36 senators failed to receive a vote.

Other senators chosen in the survey were: Stanley C. McKie, Cincinnati, bond broker, Republican; Carl D. Sheppard, Akron attorney, Republican; E. E. Addison, Columbus attorney, Republican; Albert L. Daniels, Greenfield, cigar manufacturer, Republican; Howard Metzenbaum, Cleveland attorney, Democrat; Roscoe Walcutt, Columbus attorney, Republican; and Kyle F. Brooks, Cincinnati attorney, Republican.

Two of the 10 senators selected were Democrats. The senate has 32 Republicans and four Democrats. Selections were made on the basis of ability, the magazine said.

Ohio Strip Miners Dig 42.4 Per Cent of Coal

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Sept. 3—A report issued by the state industrial relations department Tuesday showed that strip miners produced 42.4 per cent of the coal in Ohio in 1946, but paid only 21 per cent of the miners' wages.

The annual report showed that only 26 men fewer than during any year since 1920, were killed in Ohio mines in 1946.

The industrial relations department said 30,800,000 tons were mined in Ohio last year and that 13,100,000 of these were stripped, 17,600,000 machine cut and 100,000 tons dug by hand.

When 1946 started, there were 274 Ohio miners digging coal by hand, but by the end of the year, their number had dropped to 176, according to the report.

ANGING AROUND YOUR NECK!

"A millstone around the neck" has been an accepted phrase for describing an intolerable burden, ever since we can remember—and now that we've seen what a millstone looks like, we understand the aptness of the description.

There are many kinds of "millstones", and some of them we all have to accept: no man goes through life without burdens of one kind or another. There are other burdens which some of us assume and stagger under needlessly.

The too-costly funeral service is such a burden.

We believe that the family, when making a selection, should be governed by the mind as well as the heart. We ask our friends to remember that our service remains unchanged, no matter how much or how little they wish to pay; that the selection governs the quality of the merchandise only!

In the Schaffner-Denzer display rooms, prices are marked in plain figures which include the casket and all ordinary essentials of a modern funeral service.

HARDING SEASON RESERVED SEAT SALE TO OPEN TONIGHT

Intra-Squad Scrimmage Game To Highlight Program at Stadium.

Public participation in the new Football Betterment Program for Marion schools will officially begin at Harding stadium tonight with opening of the campaign to sell season reserved seat tickets to all six Harding High home games this fall.

Season tickets will be on sale at the stadium ticket booths from 7 to 9 p. m. while a special Harding intra-squad scrimmage session will be held on the stadium gridiron, starting at 7:30. No admission will be charged.

Season tickets for adults will be on sale at $5 each while those for students from the first to the twelfth grades will sell at $2.75 each. Persons buying season tickets will have the same seats at each game.

To Raise $2,000

Proceeds from the season ticket sale and private contributions will help meet the cost of the $10,000 new-style bleachers being erected on the east side of Harding field. A loan of $8,000 from the Marion Boosters club made erection of these bleachers possible. High school officials hope to raise the additional $2,000 this fall.

Erection of the 1,692 new bleacher seats is about halfway completed.

Tonight's activities at the stadium will give Marionites an opportunity to see the many improvements in stadium facilities made through the Football Betterment Program, which is sponsored jointly by the Harding High School Athletic association and the Boosters club. Among these improvements are the new bleachers and a revamped concession and locker room arrangement under the permanent concrete stand.

Preview of Team

Marionites will also get a preview of this year's Harding football team, which is under the leadership of an entirely new coaching staff. William "Pete" Howison is head coach and his assistants are Kenny Somerlot, Howard Thomas and George Keel.

The regular Harding season will get under way Friday night, Sept. 12, when the Presidents will meet Fostoria High school at Harding stadium.

The colorful Red and Black band of Harding will be on hand for tonight's event. Band Director Homer Huffman requests that all band members be at the stadium by 6:45.

Coaches To Take Bows

Plans have also been made for the introduction of all Harding and city junior high school coaches at the stadium tonight. The junior high coaches are George Whitehead at Edison, John Luginbuhl at Central and Dart Gatchell at Vernon. Dewey N. Bonyer, director of athletics, will serve as master of ceremonies during this portion of the activities.

Following tonight's initial sale, season reserved seat tickets may be obtained personally or by mail from the principal's office at Harding High school. A special mail order blank appears in tonight's Star.

GOOD FOR BOX OFFICE—His class D Bloomingdale, N. J., team is in the cellar but Carl (Butch) Sawatski packs them into the park. He's batting .324, owns 103 runs batted in, 30 home runs, four triples and 22 doubles. Dropped by the Philadelphia Phillies because he got too fat, he switched from a third baseman to a catcher to keep the weight under control. His income is handsomely augmented by "gifts" from admiring fans.

Bruins' Win Streak Ends As Muncie Nips Them, 6-3

Special to The Star

MUNCIE, Sept. 3 — The Muncie Packers defeated the Marion Cubs, 6-3, in the first of a four-game series here last night. It was the sixth straight victory for the Muncie nine now in third place in the Ohio State league.

Muncie bunched five straight hits in the first inning off John Edington, four runs crossing the plate in the process. Marion failed to score in the top of the first, although the visitors collected two hits and two walks.

Mixup in First

A mixup occurred in the first when Roy Hollingshead was called out by Plate Umpire O'Grady for failing to touch third base. The Cub runner had apparently scored after walking, taking second on a passed ball and coming around on a single by John Smith.

Flashy fielding by both teams held down the score.

In the ninth, Howard Locke, the Muncie second baseman, scampered into short right field to gobble up Hollingshead's short fly which seemed destined to drop for a Texas league single.

Cubs Fill Bases

Marion filled the bases in the eighth but was unable to score. Gene Bobzean bounced into an easy double play, and the rally died.

Mix, the Muncie pitcher, gave up seven hits, struck out seven and walked six. Bob Shufford got three of the Marion hits while catcher Spaziano led the Muncie batting attack.

The two teams meet in the second game of the series tonight.

Major Leagues Appear Certain To Break Attendance Records

By The Associated Press

With an unofficial count of 17,819,773 paid for games through Labor day, the major leagues were 725,000 admissions short of breaking the attendance record established last year and appeared certain today to exceed the mark as the pennant races swung into the final month.

A total of 18,534,444 paid was recorded in 1946 which some said would never again be approached. The American league drew 9,621,182 of that total while the National attracted 8,913,262.

This year, the National, involved in the tighter pennant battle, already has topped last year's figures with 9,162,192, a record for the league. The American has drawn 8,657,581.

The New York Yankees, like last year, are far out in front in club attendance, having drawn 1,970,542 to the huge Yankee stadium in 53 home dates. They are expected to crack the mark they established last year when they drew 2,265,512. They have 16 more home dates in which to accomplish it.

The Brooklyn Dodgers are pacing the National league clubs with 1,701,638 cash customers. They have four more home dates in which to better their record high of 1,796,824 of last year.

Ten clubs, six in the National and four in the American, already have passed the million mark and four of these have surpassed their previous records. The latter four are the New York Giants, 1,397,975; Cleveland Indians, 1,443,079; Boston Braves, 1,175,278 and the Pittsburgh Pirates, 1,022,839.

Most of the other clubs are ahead or close to their total turnstile count of last year. The one keen disappointment is the American league's entry in St. Louis. The last place Browns are having one of their poorest years at the gate, having drawn only 317,139 in 59 home dates. They will be lucky to draw 350,000 at the rate they are going.

In the only games played yesterday, the Cleveland Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns in Cleveland, 3-2, to move within three games of third place. And Washington topped the Athletics in Philadelphia, 7-4. Early Wynn won his 14th game limiting the A's to 10 hits. It was Philadelphia's seventh straight loss and left them in fifth place, two and a half games behind Cleveland.

GETS HAND FROM TEAMMATES — Al Busheу of New Haven, Conn., used to be a good pitching prospect for the Cleveland Indians. Then he lost his left hand. He forgot about baseball until the manager of a metal working firm's team asked him out. His teammates built an aluminum hand for him and once again he's burning them across the plate.

Marchildon Fined For Baiting Ump

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3 — Philadelphia Athletics' pitcher Phil Marchildon and catcher Buddy Rosar have been fined $25 each by American league President Will Harridge for a dispute in Cleveland last week with Umpire Bill McKinley.

Marchildon and Rosar disputed McKinley's decision of a fourth ball on a three and two pitch to Cleveland third sacker Ken Keltner. The walk spoiled what up to that time was a perfectly pitched game by Marchildon. The Canadian right hander had retired 23 batters in succession.

Marchildon tossed his glove toward first base and joined Rosar at the plate to tell McKinley how he felt about the pitch. The A's went on to win the game in the 12th inning on a double by Marchildon.

Blanchard and Davis To Make Last Showing in All-Star Game

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—Anguished opponents who wondered the last three football seasons whether anything short of graduation could stop Army's incomparable Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis may have the answer after tonight's All-Star game at the Polo grounds.

The wailing Mr. Outside and the line-smashing Mr. Inside, along with six other members of the unbeaten Cadet team, dominated the squad of eastern college grid greats meeting the New York Giants of the National football league in the Tribune fresh air fund's ninth annual contest.

After B. and D. were given top billing for what will undoubtedly be the last football game of their careers, every one of the 52 pasteboards was sold.

Blanchard and Davis, held out of scrimmage to be at top physical condition, will have two other former Army players with them in the starting lineup. Arnold (Mr. In-Between) Tucker will be at quarterback and Skelton Blanton at tackle. Also on the squad are center Jim Enos, tackle Harry Tavzel, end Tom Hayes and fullback Bill West.

Completing the All-Star dream backfield is Eddie Allen of Penn, elected captain by his teammates.

In the supporting cast are such skilled operatives as Don Kasperak, ace Columbia passer and Joe Bartos of Navy from Lorain, O.

The collegians' mentor, Fritz McLaughlry, the old Dartmouth T master, believes they rate an edge in the backfield department and the All-Stars certainly should be able to move the ball if they can dent stout Steve Owen's formidable Giant line. The pro forward wall includes such stalwarts as Jim White, Tex Coulter, Len Younce, Bob Dobelstein and Chet Gladchuck.

Kickoff time tonight is 7:30 p. m. (EST).

SEMI-PRO GRIDDERS SET FOR FIRST TILT

Angels To Play Columbus at Mt. Gilead Sunday.

The Safety Cab Angels are busy this week preparing for their opening game at Mt. Gilead Sunday against the Hilltop Athletic club of Columbus.

What the well dressed football team will wear was pre-viewed at last night's practice when the uniforms for this year were distributed. The squad will wear all white uniforms, trimmed in maroon.

Their opponent is tough with a number of former stars from Columbus high schools in the lineup. The team also has, as does Marion, a year's experience in semi-pro competition.

Marion has been holding workouts at Harding field from 7 to 8 p. m. The team will have about a month's drill under its belt for the opening game. The game at Mt. Gilead is scheduled to start at 2:15 p. m. Sunday.

DAYTON JUNIORS WIN

DAYTON, O., Sept. 3 — The Dayton, O., (Frigidaire) team today held the national amateur baseball federation's junior championship for the second time in its four-year history after defeating Covington, Ky., 5-4, last night before 3,109 spectators.

MARION CLUBS EDGED IN PROSPECT MEET

Both local entries in the softball tournament at Prospect were given the heave-ho last night.

Shanty Town Bar was defeated, 9-5 by Williams-McNabb of Columbus and Smitty's All-Stars were knocked out by Strine's Service of Ashland, 5-4.

The largest crowd of the tourney, estimated at 2,500 persons, attended last night's session.

Home runs in the first game were hit by Willis and Caldwell of Columbus.

Ashland clinched a victory over Smitty's with four runs in the fourth inning. Jacobs hit a three run homer in that inning. Max Roseberry homered for Smitty's in the third.

Tonight's program will pit Baldridge Tires of Upper Sandusky, winner of the tourney last year, against Williams-McNabb and Tong Implement of Waldo against Strine's Service. The first game starts at 8:15.

Lima Manager Gets $50 Fine As Result Of "Stalling" Here

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3—President Frank M. Colley of the Ohio State league today imposed a $50 fine on Manager Tony Chernetsky of the Lima club for "clowning and stalling" in a game at Marion Monday night.

Colley dismissed the Marion club's charges that Chernetsky "made a farce" of the game by replacing his infielders with pitchers. He found that the players sent into the infield had played the positions with some regularity during the season.

The Marion club had complained that Chernetsky's conduct, both as manager and as substitute pitcher, delayed the game to such an extent that rain halted the contest before the required four and a half innings could be played. The game was ended after the fourth inning with Marion leading, 13-2.

Colley lifted the suspension which he had imposed on Chernetsky yesterday.

Five-Man Battle Royal Scheduled at Armory

A five-man battle royal is planned at the Armory Thursday night starting at 8:30.

Signed for the event are Dutch Schultz of Houston, Tex., Pavo Ketonen of Finland, Rufus Jones of New York, Gil La Cross of Boston, and Martino Angelo of Toledo.

In a battle royal the first man out is finished for the night. The second and third return for a semi-final and the last two remaining come back for the main-go.

Battle Royal of Roughies Thursday

To start the fall season off with a bang, Promoter Fishbaugh has signed five of the roughest men in the country for a battle royal. The five are Dutch Schultz, the rough Texan from Houston; Rufus Jones, the head-butting gent from New York; Pavo Ketonen, the rough Finn from Finland; Gil LaCross, who needs no introduction, from Boston, and last but not least, Martino Angelo, the bare footed Italian from Canada. Martino hasn't shown in these parts for over two years as he was the light heavy and junior heavyweight champ of the Pacific Coast for two years, now he has returned with an eye on Billy Rayburn's belt. The first man out in the battle royal is through for the evening, the next two to lose come back for the forty-five minute semi-final and the last two left in the ring return for the two hour main event. A ten minute prelim will start the show at 8:30. Call Markert & Lewis early for your best seats to this all star show. —Adv.

Ohio State Begins Football Practice

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3—With 36 lettermen from the 1943, 1944, 1945 and 1946 squads among the 71 hopefuls, Ohio State university launched its football training grind today with a brand new coach—Wesley Fesler—at the helm.

The fifth coach to grab the Buckeye reins since 1940, the former captain and All-America end with the Ohio club faces a serious task. The first chore hops up Sept. 27 when the Bucks battle Missouri, a team which has never defeated Ohio in six previous attempts, but this year is touted as "loaded for bear."

After receiving their equipment yesterday, the Bucks had a long practice session scheduled this morning, but the afternoon was handed over to the press photographers. Tomorrow, however, the Ohioans swing into daily double workouts to get set for the invasion of the "Show Me" athletes. All the sessions will be closed, except to newspapermen. varsity "O" members and high school coaches.

The 1947 Buck squad is practically an all-Ohio lineup, for only three of the aspirants are from outside the Buckeye boundary.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

UMPIRES GET HAND

Editor of The Star: I would like to have you publish a few words in The Marion Star answering Mr. Roseberry and also Alvin Luedtke.

Mr. Roseberry says we should not holler about our Cub players. Why are they any better than the big league players? They boo Feller, Newhouser, Seerey, Gordon, Newsom and a lot of others. They have been booing players long before and still are ever since Mr. Roseberry quit playing and I know he got lots of boos when he pitched ball around Marion.

I suppose he likes the way Manager Burbrink handles his pitchers. When he has a pitcher in the box and the going gets a little tough he pays more attention to the pitcher that's warming up instead of trying to get the pitcher in the box settled down.

Now for Mr. Luedtke. He says Marion lost a ball game because the umpires stole the game. What does Mr. Luedtke know about umpiring sitting in the grandstand? The umpires are in a better position to see these plays than all the "better" umpires sitting in the grandstand and bleachers. I have even seen the good umpires calling balls and strikes sitting in the first base bleachers.

Now if Mr. Leudtke would support the umpires on the field a little more and not do so much knocking them and all the others, good umpires in grandstand and bleachers, might get better jobs done on the field.

Mr. Leudtke and the other 100 per cent umpires in the grandstand and bleachers can not umpire from their positions.

If President Colley of the Ohio State league and the American and National leagues only knew what a good umpire Mr. Luedtke and the 100 per cent other ones he is talking about they would have them in a bigger league calling balls and strikes instead of sitting in grandstand and bleachers here in Marion. And they couldn't beat the hours either.

Sure umpires make mistakes. How many players make mistakes? Players strike out, players make errors. That's all right, but let a poor umpire make a mistake and it's awful. The umpire is human after all. Give them a little more support instead of doing so much knocking and learn a little more about the game yourself and you will get a better umpiring job done on the field. In all baseball leagues they watch the umpires on the field and not in the grandstand and bleachers. That is where they pay them, working on the field.

A former baseball player.
W. G. DAVIS

Marion.

P. S. I see a lot of these games here in Marion myself.

FELLER GETS "CUT" OF CLEVELAND GATE

Pitcher Picked Best Year for Attendance Contract.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 3—Fastball pitching with a so-so ball club can be reasonably rewarding, judging from Bob Feller's magnetic attraction for a steady stream of cash.

Bob has just received another extra check from Bill Veeck, and the Indians' president said it makes him "by far the all-time highest paid pitcher in baseball."

Nor was the Tribe's extra-special hurler kicking. He grinned: "It was a very satisfactory one. I think I'll stick around a while."

Feller couldn't have picked a better year to base his salary on a home attendance clause: Its been the highest in Cleveland history—1,443,079 as of Sept. 1.

But it wasn't salary, said Feller, that was discussed yesterday when he talked with some baseball officials from Mexico. I've just been considering the neighbors to the south as a possible locale for post-season barnstorming, he said, but this time he'll submit any conclusions to Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Last night's St. Louis-Cleveland game gave the Indians a clean sweep of the three-game series and a fairly tight hold on fourth place, two and a half games ahead of Philadelphia, which lost again.

Red Embree pitched fine for eight innings, but left after shortstop Verne Stephens doubled in the ninth behind Jeff Heath, who walked. Both of them later scored on relief pitcher Al Gettel, and Manager Lou Boudreau finally sent in Ed Klieman to finish up the 3-2 victory.

It's a two-night doubleheader today with the Chicago White Sox.

Salary Commission Hits Snag in Survey Plans

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3—The state salary commission plans to ask for new bids on a survey of state officials' and employes' salaries after rejecting all previous bids.

The commission decided new bids should be based upon specifications, including salary study, job classification, and pay analysis and alternate bids must include a report on under-staffing and over staffing of offices and departments.

The 31,500 state employes, including elected officials, but excluding teaching staffs at the six state universities, are to be covered by the survey.

Firms which had submitted bids, and the Brookings institute, a New York non-profit organization, will be asked to bid on specifications.

Previous bids ranged from $31,500 to $200,000.

The commission can spend only $50,000.

Doris Duke Still Wed To Cromwell—in N. J.

By The Associated Press

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 3—Doris Duke may be Senora Rubiross now in Paris, but James H. R. Cromwell's attorney says she still is Mrs. Cromwell in New Jersey.

A New Jersey court order nullifying the tobacco heiress' original Reno divorce still is in effect here, Cromwell's attorney, State Senator John Toolan, said yesterday.

She and Cromwell, Toolan said, still "are man and wife in the state of New Jersey."

For many years, comets were called "hairy stars" and considered omens of ill luck.

SEVEN MINOR MISHAPS HERE

Little Damage in Accidents Report to City Police Department.

Seven minor traffic accidents involving 12 vehicles and a slight injury to a pedestrian occurred Tuesday in Marion, city police reported.

Raymond Spencer, 33, of rear Marion, was struck at 8:30 p. m. while crossing Center street on State street by an unknown driver going south on State street. He suffered a slight injury of the right leg, according to the police report. Spencer had just left Dr. Frederick Sr.'s office on East Center street.

A car driven by William Coonrun of 167 Hane avenue struck a tree on Maple street at 2:10 a. m. when Coonrun attempted to make a left turn from Silver street to Maple, police reported. The right front fender and headlight were damaged.

A bicycle carried on the rear of an automobile driven by George W. Mitchell, 32, of 783 Windsor street, was damaged considerably at 8:05 p. m. on Prospect street at Church street when hit by an automobile from the rear, said police. According to the police report, Mitchell stated that he was stopped for a red light when he was rammed by a car behind him, driven by a woman who refused to give him her name.

Cars driven by E. T. Norris, 28, of 254½ East Church street and Robert H. Miller, 27, of Caledonia were damaged in the rear bumper and trunk at 4:55 p. m. on East Church street, when struck from the rear by a third car driven by Charles E. Henninger, 25, of 124 Carhart street. Norris and Miller were stopped in a line of traffic, police reported. According to the police report Mrs. Henninger suffered a head bump and her glasses were broken in the collision. The front of the Henninger car was damaged when the car struck the front axle, which was pushed into the motor.

A truck driven by J. M. [illegible], 31, of Columbus, struck a rear corner parked in front of Union Depot hotel when Burns began backing out of a parking place, at 2:45 p. m., police reported. No damage was reported.

Two cars collided in an alley in the rear of the Ohio theater at 11:30 a. m. Monday damaging the right side of one car. According to the police report, a car driven by William Rush, 21, of near Marion, was only damaged when Rush, going west on an east-west alley, collided with a car owned by J. H. Troop of Prospect, which was backing down the north-south alley.

A car driven by Joseph S. Stafford, 30, of 819 Oak street, was damaged in the left front fender and bumper when it hit a fence on Columbia street at 5:05 a. m. According to the police report, Stafford was attempting to make a U-turn on Columbia when he ran off the road and went to sleep.

Painter Hurt in Fall From Ladder Today

Avon Manley, 63-year-old painter of Center and Cayuga streets suffered fractured ribs and possible internal injuries in a fall from a ladder today, according to a police department report.

The fall occurred at 797 York street and he was taken to City hospital in the Smith ambulance at 12:35 p. m. There it was determined that he had suffered fractured ribs and X-Rays were to be taken to check whether he had suffered other injuries.

Delbert Hessby, 78, Dies at Home in Upper

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept. 3—Delbert Hessley, 78, retired state highway department employe, died at his home here Saturday night following a week's illness. He was born July 2, 1869, in Wyandot county, and was a lifetime resident of this community.

Surviving with his wife, Mrs. Carrie Hessley, are three children from a former marriage, Mervin Hessley, of Lorain, O.; Mrs. Gail Schoen, of Homburg, N. Y., and Mrs. Merle Parrs, of Lorain, O. and a niece, Mrs. John Myers, of Detroit.

CONGRESSMAN TO SPEAK

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept. 3—Speakers at the annual picnic-meeting of the Wyandot county association of township trustees and clerks, at the fairgrounds here, Thursday evening, Sept. 4, will be state president, J. R. Thomas, of Hayesville and Congressman Frederick C. Smith, of Marion.

Nurse Employed To Serve City Schools on Full-Time Basis

Another step in Marion's progressive public school program was taken at Tuesday's meeting of the board of education when approval was given the hiring of a public school nurse who will take up her duties upon the opening of the 1947-48 school term next Monday. Chosen for the full time position was Miss Inez M. Kraner, R. N., of 354 South Greenwood street. A graduate of Grant Hospital school of nursing in Columbus, Miss Kraner was on the staff at the state school for the deaf in Columbus, served with the Army Nursing corps in Puerto Rico and more recently has been associated with the Marion City hospital.

Employment of a full time school nurse has been under consideration by the board for some time and is in keeping with a recommendation made by Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, through Supt. E. E. Holt. The school nurse will work in cooperation with the office of the city health commissioner and the board of education. As the employment of a nurse is a new phase of the school system, the program will be outlined and developed following a careful study and as the work develops, Supt. Holt said. Miss Kraner will be employed on a 12-month basis.

Other business coming before the board members included the presentation of resignations and requests for leaves, appointments of several teachers, adoption of a recommended textbook, approval of the school calendar and payment of bills.

Resignations Accepted

Resignations accepted by the board included George W. Wilson, instructor of history at Harding High school; Sarah Smith Jones, second grade teacher at Oakland and R. E. McKeever, coordinator of veterans on the job training. Mrs. Mildred Buente, a member of the staff at Pearl Street school, was granted a leave of absence for a semester. Upon the recommendation of Supt. Holt the following appointments were approved: Miss Ruth Mills of Westerville, elementary; Mrs. Donna R. Fogat, junior high and Mrs. Audrey Laginbuhl to teach at Pearl Street during the absence of Mrs. Buente. The board approved a wage of $10 a day for substitute teachers.

School will open Monday, Sept. 8 and June 2, 1948, was set as the closing date. Schools will be closed Oct. 24 to give the teachers an opportunity to attend the Central Ohio teachers meeting at Columbus, Armistice day, Nov. 11, Nov. 27 and 28 for the Thanksgiving holiday, Dec. 19 to Jan. 5 for the Christmas holidays and March 19 to 29 for the Easter vacation.

Repairs Authorized

The board authorized the Baldauf Construction Co. to make repairs on the fire escape and make other improvements by changing two fire exits at Central Junior High school building and approved the payment of bills in the amount of $20,964.14. Bills included books at a cost of $1,300, $4,196 in payment of fixtures and installation of lights in several elementary buildings and $2,437.07 in payment of a heating system at Glenwood building.

Completing the business session was the adoption of a text book on applied mathematics for ninth grade study, "Useful Mathematics," published by Ginn and Co., following the recommendation of the committee composed of W. F. Orcutt, chairman and Miss Lela Brookshire.

The meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the school administration building.

Rotarians Hear O.W.U. Coach

"Keep Their Spirit High," Is Method Favored by Fraser for Football Teams.

A football coach who believes that the best results can be obtained from his players by having them get as much fun out of the game as possible gave a Marion audience an insight into his theories and methods in a talk Tuesday.

The speaker was Glenn Fraser of Delaware, new head coach at Ohio Wesleyan university, who comes to that post after years of successful direction of High school teams. He spoke following the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club at Hotel Harding.

Emphasis is placed by Coach Fraser on team spirit. He said this is often the only difference between highly successful teams and those which make only mediocre records.

The new O.W.U. mentor let it be known that he does not believe in excessively gruelling, exhausting practice methods. "Keep them enthusiastic," he said, voicing his belief that while practice should test their durability and stamina, it should not reach the point where it becomes irksome and depressing.

Psychology Helpful

Application of psychology in competition is favored by Coach Fraser and he told how it had worked successfully with teams directed by him. Included is having the players talk to their opponents and to game officials on the field with the thought in mind of detracting from the opposition's effectiveness and keeping their own team "on its toes" and its fighting spirit at the highest possible pitch.

Coach Fraser explained the various types of plays and compared the modern game with that of earlier years, using a blackboard for demonstrations. He showed how much more complicated the game is now in comparison with the years before the forward pass and the early development of the pass.

No High Power Recruiting

Fraser reminded his listeners that Ohio Wesleyan does not seek to obtain football recruits through scholarship offers or any other special inducements and consequently is sometimes handicapped in competition with other colleges which do strengthen their teams by this sort of recruiting. Despite this, he voiced the hope that the Delaware college will have a team this year which will be credited with a substantial share of victories.

Accompanying Mr. Fraser to the Rotary meeting was Robert Strimer, Ohio Wesleyan's assistant football coach and head basketball coach. They were introduced by Carl Knirk, the Rotary club's program chairman for September.

In Guest List

Guests of the club, in addition to Coaches Fraser and Strimer, were R. N. Ardrey of London, O. and Harley Roby of Minerva, O., visiting Rotarians, Weldon L. Metz of Pittsburgh, Pa. and Ellis Veatch of Washington, D. C., Ray Keeler, George Stafford, William A. Howison, Harding High school's head football coach, Michel Huber, Gene Fetter, St. Mary High school football coach, John Courtright and R. G. Ardrey, all of Marion.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME

CRESTLINE, Sept. 3—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the interior of the double home owned by W. C. Davis at the corner of Thoman and John streets. The partitions and stairway was burned out. The house had just been newly decorated inside. Excellent work of local firemen saved the home from being completely destroyed, it was said.

ATOMIC ARMS RACE BLAMED ON RUSSIA

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) said last night the United States was forced to go on making and improving atomic bombs because of Russia's refusal to accept the American plan for international control.

As a result of this stand by Russia and its "aggressive and expansionist policy on every front," McMahon declared, the people of the United State have "become unified in our determination that Russia shall not either by intrigue or by force accomplish the domination of Europe and Asia."

McMahon was one of eight speakers during a half hour coast to coast radio rally" in which Democratic orators warmed up for the 1948 campaign by hammering at the record of the Republican-controlled congress on labor price, farm and housing legislation.

Gael Sullivan, executive director of the Democratic national committee said some nations were watching United States attempts to aid Europe "with hostile eyes."

Democrats held meetings over the country to hear the broadcast speeches from New York, California, Minnesota, Alabama, Indiana, Pennsylvania and the national capital. The national committee said it was the "first national meeting of a political party to be conducted over the air."

The American Broadcasting Company, which donated the time, said it has offered the Republican party a half hour over the same stations.

Other speakers included Marshall Hanley, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Indiana, who said the youth of the party was working hard for a victory next year, and Senator Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania who declared voters of his state approved the policies of the Truman administration.

Rites in Cleveland For Drowning Victim

Funeral services for Richard Eugene Acker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Acker of 198 Lake street, who drowned yesterday, will be held tomorrow morning in Cleveland. The services will be conducted in the Zabor funeral home on Pearl road there, and burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery, Cleveland. Yesterday forenoon the child's body was found in McKinley lake on South Prospect street where he had apparently fallen a short time previously. The maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martin, reside in Cleveland.

Slain Pair's Finances Aired in Murder Trial

By The Associated Press

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 3—The financial condition of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell became an issue today in the trial of their daughter Louise and her lover, George Gollum, accused of killing her parents and blowing up the Overell home with dynamite.

Otto Jacobs, counsel for the 18-year-old heiress to the Overell estate, called as witnesses an accountant for Overell's Washington Finance Co. and an auditor who recently completed an investigation of the concern.

"We intend to show that Overell's business was not on a sound financial basis," Jacobs said, and that he had been acting strangely shortly before his death March 15."

The Overell estate has been estimated at $500,000. Louise is the sole heir.

LEADERS SLEEP BUT MANY STOCKS CLIMB

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—Assorted stocks, including aircraft, continued to edge forward in today's market while many leaders went to sleep at slightly lower levels.

The inflationary prop, provided by the cashing of veterans' terminal leave bonds and soldiers' state bonuses, was offset to some extent by persistent apprehension over international economic affairs.

Dealings were relatively sluggish.

The newly split Norfolk and Western made its initial appearance on the downside but Nickel Plate preferred jumped about 4 points on a few sales. Occasional resistance was exhibited by U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Woolworth, Great Northern Railway, United Paperboard (on an earnings statement), Woolworth and Deere. Fractions to a point or more were added by United Aircraft, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin and Speery.

LEGAL NOTICE

In Re: The First Church of the Nazarene, Marion, Ohio.

To whom it may concern:

You are hereby notified that on the 27th day of August, 1947 the trustees of The First Church of the Nazarene, a Religious Society duly incorporated under the laws of the State of Ohio, filed its petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, being Cause No. 29450, praying for an order of the Court to sell the following described real estate:

Tract No. 1. Situated in the County of Marion, State of Ohio and in the City of Marion and bounded and described as follows: Being part of Lot No. 252 in the Village, (now City) of Marion, Ohio and described by beginning at the southeast corner of said lot No. 252; thence north with the regular lines and streets of said Village, now City of Marion, Ohio, 40 feet; thence west with lines aforesaid 120 feet; thence south with the lines of lots 40 feet to Canal, now Columbia Street; thence east with the lines aforesaid 120 feet to the place of beginning.

Tract No. 2. Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio and in the City of Marion and bounded and described as follows: Known as a part of a quarter acre of land, being a part of the northwest quarter of Section 27, Township 5, South Range 15 East, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the northwest corner of a certain tract of land heretofore conveyed by John Diebold to Elizabeth S. Bull by Deed dated August 16, 1883 and recorded in record of Deeds of Marion County, Ohio in Volume 66 at Page 424; thence with the line of East Street north 66 feet; thence east parallel with the north line of Canal Street, produced eastward 110 feet; thence south on a line parallel with the east line of East Street 66 feet to the north line of Mrs. Bull's aforementioned tract; thence west with the north line of her said premises 110 feet to the place of beginning.

The prayer of the Petition is that said corporation be authorized to sell and convey both of the above described tracts and that it be authorized to use the money derived from the sales thereof toward the purchase of the Central Christian Church property located on West Church Street in the City of Marion, Ohio and other suitable relief. Said cause will be for hearing on September 29, 1947 at 10:00 o'clock A.M., or as soon thereafter as the same can be heard.

Annie Rooney — By Darrell McClure

GEE, ZERO - I GUESS I'M A TERRIBLE SCAREDY-CAT - THE WAY THAT WIND KEEPS HOWLIN', IT GIVES ME THE WIMWAMS -
LISTEN TO ALL THE CREEPY, SNEAKIN' NOISES INSIDE THE HOUSE - SOUNDS KINDA LIKE THE OLD HOUSE WAS FULL OF TROUBLE.
IT KEEPS MOANIN' AN' GROANIN' LIKE SOMEONE WAS HURTIN' IT -- MAYBE IT'S GHOSTS -- BUT WHATEVER IT IS --
-I'M SCARED ALL OVER - I WANNA RUN - BUT IF THE GHOSTS SEE ME RUNNIN', THEY MIGHT COME OUT AN' CHASE ME - AN' IF GHOSTS STARTED CHASIN' ME - I'D JUST DIE.

STEVE, THE FIELD BOSS CLAIMS HE DOESN'T KNOW WHERE THE OLD GERMAN CONDOR CAME FROM THAT PICKED UP HAPPY EASTER AND MME. JONES!
THAT AIRPLANE HAS A LONG RANGE BUT IT WOULD BE SO EASY TO PARK IT OUT IN THE DESERT FOR JUST SUCH JOBS AS THIS...
IF IT FLEW IN HERE AND BACK TO BASE, THE PILOT WOULD FILL HIS TANKS, NO MATTER HOW LITTLE GAS HE CONSUMED!...GET ME THE SERVICING SALES SLIPS!
HE SURELY CAME WITH FULL TANKS, SO WHAT HE BOUGHT HERE MEANS HOW MANY MILES ON THE RETURN TRIP...
HERE'S THE SLIP, STEVE...
PERFORMANCE DATA ON THE CONDOR SHOWS THAT THIS MUCH GAS SHOULD CARRY THEM ABOUT 2000 MILES... DRAW A CIRCLE ON THE MAP WITH THIS TOWN AT THE CENTER — AND SEE WHAT WE GET!
JUST A LOT OF SAND! AND THAT'S ALL!

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

I FAIRLY held my breath when it is useless. I should break down, I had told Mary of the incident of the signet ring, and used it as a point of reference to the bars which had been put upon the rooms of everybody connected with the Philip Veritzens.

She steadfastly had refused to believe the subterfuge I had given her about the bars being ordered by my father for our protection, and had shrewdly divined the real reason for them—her own temporary suicidal state of mind. But I had a heady feeling of triumph when I saw incredulity change to belief in her eyes.

"You win, darling," she said, lifting her hand in salute. "I didn't believe you before, but I do now. My apologies, Madame! And, may I ask, is the speech prohibition removed? Are you through with the story?"

"All through," I told her smiling. "Talk as long and as much as Aunt Katharine will permit."

"You have been a very good girl," Katharine said smiling. "The sky's the limit on talk, as far as I'm concerned, unless I see you getting excited."

"I won't get excited," Mary promised, and then turned to her father-in-law's regal wife with shining eyes.

Lost in Admiration

"Mother darling," she said, "I think you're the bravest woman and the best sport I ever knew. I'm simply lost in admiration for you. And have I your permission to take Lina on for a wrestling match, no holds barred—I want to talk cold turkey to her, and I have a sneaking suspicion you're on my side."

There was comprehension and loving admiration in Olga's eyes as they looked at her husband's daughter-in-law.

"I am on your side, my dear," she said, "and I hope you can make my daughter listen to reason."

"Maman!" Olina almost shouted the protesting cry, but her mother's eyes held hers for a second, and I saw the result of the strict training Olina had undergone in her youth at the royal court of Transvania. She gave a little gesture of submission and turned to Mary.

Useless to Listen

"I will listen to you, Mary," she said, but, as I told you before, it is useless. I should break down, fail you utterly, if I tried to appear in a scene of your play."

Mary looked at her for a full second before replying. It was an eloquent look, one filled with apparent bewilderment at seeing some person acting in a manner utterly inexplicable to her.

"Look here, Lina," she said at last, "What do you think Georges would think if he knew how you were reacting to this thing?"

There was astonishment on Olina's face. There was also a touch of resentment in the astonishment, and I wondered if Mary were not going too far. After all, for many years Olina had considered Mary—with certain justification, I thought grimly—a menace to her love for Georges, the royal playboy.

"I don't know what you mean," Olina finally said with dignity. "And, forgive me, but are you sure you know what Georges would think?"

A Tingle of Acerbity

There was a tinge of acerbity in the question which I was sure Mary caught. Katharine's face was inscrutable, but Olga's eyes were a bit clouded, and I knew that she disapproved of her daughter's reaction, even while she sympathized with it.

"I haven't any special knowledge," Mary said flippantly, "but anybody who ever knew Georges could figure that he wouldn't want anybody doing the weeping willow act over him, whether he's dead or alive. If he could talk to you, Lina—and he'll probably be talking plenty when he gets out of this mix-up—he'd say: 'For gosh sakes, sweetheart, let me feel you're backing me up by going along plugging the way I am. You know how lousy I'd feel to think of you eating your heart out at home. Get out and do something to occupy your mind, but be ready to drop everything and scoot if I should whistle for you!'

"If you'll use the sense God gave you, Lina," Mary finished, "you'll know that's what Georges would say."

Medals for Navy Vets Issued at Office Here

World War II victory medals are now being issued at the sheriff's office in the courthouse to Navy veterans in this area who present their honorable discharge certificates. More than 100 of an estimated 500 eligible Navy veterans have already received the medal. Also available at the sheriff's office are World War II defense medals for men who were in the Navy during the time of Sept. 1, 1939 to Dec. 7, 1941.

A Navy recruiter will be in the sheriff's office throughout September.

Enrollment 126 At Grand Prairie

Grand Prairie school opened Tuesday morning with an enrollment of 126, Harvey Brucker, superintendent, reported. The position of home economics instructor will be filled by Mrs. Evelyn Lashey, he announced, and William Pride has been employed as a bus driver. Other drivers are Harvey Vroman, S. A. Foos and D. A. Neff.

The Congressional Record, official publication of the U. S. congress, once was named the Congressional Globe.
